

County ok's 34% hike in sewer rate

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Nameoki, Chouteau and Venice township residents are about to have a surprise as their monthly treatment and sewer maintenance charge for the new four-township sanitary sewers climbs from $11.80 to $15.80, a 34% jump. The increase was approved by the Madison County Board at Edwardsville yesterday.

The proposal to increase the treatment and sewer maintenance fee by 34 percent was conceived by the county's finance committee during a joint meeting with members of the special sewer committee Thursday evening.

Despite unanimous objection by the members of the sewer committee, who could not vote at that meeting, the finance committee voted 3 to 2 in favor of a package containing the rate increase and agreed to present it to the county board Wednesday.

A tentative ordinance for the board to pass was drafted at that time, but no public announcement of the proposed increase was made. Sewer committee chairman Louis Whitsell said he just did not think about notifying the press.

Gene Futch, superintendent of the sewer district, addressed a meeting of the sewers and drainage committee of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon.

Under questioning by committee members, Futch said the sewer district has been unable to pay its bills, and warned that an increase in the treatment rate was expected to be approved by the county board Wednesday, along with a $200,000 loan of county funds to the district.

Asked how much the rate increase would be, Futch answered, "I would rather not say." When reminded that the Press-Record would not publish until Thursday and would be unable to warn residents of the increase prior to Wednesday's board meeting, Futch reluctantly released the $15.80 per month figure.

He said all of the additional money will go to the sewer district to pay its bills. Granite City has not increased its treatment fees, it was noted.

The sewer district has not yet paid one penny to Granite City for treatment because the sewer district "has gone broke," Futch agreed.

Approximately $60,000 is overdue to Granite City for sewage treatment and large payments are due the sewer contractor and the engineers.

Futch said the special sewer committee of the county is "very much against" the rate hike, but a combination of borrowing and the higher rate is needed to bring the district out of its financial plight.

He said committee chairman Whitsell and member Morris Miles expressed strong feelings of opposition and would try to block it. He predicted, "We are going to hear lots of objections to this."

Whitsell said Tuesday the rate hike was recommended by County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields. "I am opposed to it. The members of the committee are opposed to it but I believe it will pass," Whitsell stated.

He said the wishes of the sewer committee are being ignored by the county board, which he said is being swayed by Fields. County Administrator Mary Kane, Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith and three members of the finance committee.

Whitsell said the sewer district's financial picture is not as bleak as it seems: "We have $800,000 owed to us by the state, which is the normal five percent hold-back from the grant. They won't give it to us until we finalize this program."

"The only way to finalize it is if the county, through loaned funds or anticipation warrants, funds us so we can pay our debts," Whitsell contends.

He said experts consulted by the sewer committee say that the district could pay its debts and have $80,000 left over, if the state would release the final grant payment.

"When all this happens, we will be in business and we will be solvent. Taking in a few thousand dollars from a rate increase will not bring us out of the bind we are in. We need about $700,000," he added.

One roadblock preventing the project from being finalized is a lawsuit filed by 12 families residing in the Brandon Heights subdivision who contend the sewers were placed too close to their

GC faces mounting debt; next city payroll in jeopardy

By GARY SCHNEIDER
of the Press-Record

Like the figures on a tote board at a charity telethon, Granite City aldermen and officials are anxiously watching the figures rise in the city treasurer's office as the auditors near the end of their detailed review.

The problem is that the auditors are totaling the city's deficits, not assets, and the tote board could reach $1 million in debt before the counting stops, the Press-Record has learned.

Such a deficit could have serious implications on the operation of the city until new tax revenues are received, probably in August or September, and borrowing may be necessary for the first time in many years, it was indicated.

Rumors of the city's financial plight, first reported in Monday's Press-

Record, were renewed Tuesday after the aldermen met in an hour-long executive session before the city council meeting.

The executive session was called to discuss a threat by the Milam East Division of SCA Services to curtail garbage collection in the city tomorrow, unless past-due bills totaling $90,044 were paid immediately.

In its public session, the council voted without comment to pay the past-due bill and at the end of the meeting, Alderman Paul Ray Bowler, chairman of the council's finance committee, assured those in the audience that garbage collection will continue uninterrupted.

However, the concerned expression in Bowler's face and on other aldermen's faces, hinted that payment of the bill was more painful than simply writing a check.

Asked Wednesday about the status, Bowler confirmed that the city may be about $600,000 in debt now and will have to meet a $200,000 payroll June 30, unless layoffs are begun soon.

"It is probably going to be decided sometime next week if we will borrow money or make the necessary budgetary adjustments," Bowler said. He confirmed that a certified public auditor and two interns are looking at the financial status of the city and should complete their report tomorrow. Mayor Paul Schuler has been out of town, but will return this weekend and Bowler said he expects there will be a meeting of the council's finance committee and the mayor Monday.

month. From the left are committee chairman Wilbur Engleke, City Engineer Monroe Brewer for Granite City, Futch, committee members William Nichols, Helen Christich and Shang Greathouse, president of the Metro-East Sanitary District, committee member Jim Whitt and Madison County Assistant State's Attorney J. ## Estimate million fire damage here at GC Steel plant Electrical circuitry in the computerized control panels which operates the 80-inch Hot Strip line at Granite City Steel was destroyed in a fire that started about 6:30 p.m. Wednesday.

The extent of the damage, estimated by some as possibly exceeding $1 million, had not yet been determined this morning.

There were no injuries to plant personnel nor damage to the building. However, the 80-inch hot strip is out of production today and efforts are being made to determine if one of three coils affected by the blaze can be operated manually, a plant spokesman advised.

(The coils, situated at the end of the line, wrap the steel being processed into large coils.)

There is little damage to the mill equipment itself, with the blaze primarily being confined to electrical wiring and control panels in a "tunnel" beneath the line, it was learned.

About 130 employees in the Hot Strip Department are not working today, but the bulk of plant's operations are not affected, the spokesman said.

There is no indication this morning how long it will be before production can resume on the 80-inch line, he added.

"We are trying to locate some spare control panels at this time, as our primary concern is to continue providing service to our customers," he said at 9:30 a.m. today.

Firefighters from the Granite City Fire Department were called to the industrial plant when employees were unable to get the blaze under control. "It was a very difficult fire to extinguish," Assistant Fire Chief George Smolich said this morning.

"The blaze was in a very confined area with difficult access. There was a great deal of toxic smoke and a lot of heat."

"The men had to use self-contained breathing apparatus. We had no one injured," he said.

Firefighters remained at the scene about five hours. Two pumps and a pumper equipped with a telescopic were used.

Francis active until successor named to board

Madison County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer announced at Wednesday's monthly meeting that, based on a ruling by the state's attorney's office, Terry Francis will continue to serve on the Board of Review.

Francis' second two-year term ended June 1. Under the legal ruling, he remains on the Board of Review until a successor is appointed, Hagnauer said.

Hagnauer is preparing to appoint one to four persons to the Board of Review to join Fred Finck and Robert Harris. Whether Francis will be among those chosen has not been disclosed; a grand

Occupancy permit plan tabled

Plans for introducing a minimum housing standards ordinance on the floor of the Granite City Council took a step backwards Tuesday night, but several aldermen indicated they believe there is a crucial need for such an ordinance and intend to continue to find an ordinance which will be acceptable to the council, the local realtors and the city residents.

Officially, the council voted 3 to 4 Tuesday night to table a mandate to the ordinance committee which had compelled the committee to bring in an ordinance to improve housing standards.

Alderman Paul Fisk, chairman of the ordinance committee, objected strongly to the public reaction his committee received when it distributed copies of one sample ordinance to the aldermen for their study.

He also objected to newspaper publicity branding the document a "proposed ordinance," saying it was given to the council only for study and comment. "It was never considered to come to the council floor. It got blown completely out of sorts and people got into a panic on this thing," Fisk contended.

He noted there had been strong opposition expressed by realtors and said he was given "a copy of a watered-down ordinance to the realtors. We're not ready for it now," he said.

However, he noted, "The ordinance committee is still under a mandate (issued about two years ago) to bring in a housing code."

Alderman Sam Whitmer of the Second Ward contended the sample document given to the aldermen to study "is pretty close to the same ordinance this city dropped a couple of years ago."

Fisk noted that the sample document followed the lines of ordinances being used in New York City, Cincinnati, Spokane, Wash., and many other cities across the nation to clean up sub-standard housing. "This is basically the same, but I'd just as soon drop the mandate," he said.

Whitmer responded, "I think that would be a very, very wise decision because I don't think nine out of 10 houses in this city could pass inspection (under the requirements of the sample document)."

Lengthy discussion followed a motion to table the mandate. Carl Kittel of the Third Ward said most of the aims and standards in the sample are needed, but many parts need changing. "We have a city zoning ordinance and we should enforce the existing ordinance. That's why we have houses with rickety steps and poor housing."

"We have a department with the responsibility of enforcing the existing ordinance and should do so," Kittel contended.

Alderman Paul Ray Bowler of the Seventh Ward agreed. "The laws are there. We have a need for an occupancy ordinance," he contended.

Fisk agreed, saying that standards suggested in a 1953 brochure for minimum housing were adopted by the council under Mayor Leonard Davis in 1963 and are very similar to the sample ordinance given to the aldermen to study.

"You better take a good look at it,"

Nameoki Town county board districts are merged into one

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record

Nameoki Township, Madison County serving on the Madison County Board are likely to decrease from two to one after the 1982 county election, due to redistricting approved by the board Wednesday.

Nameoki Precinct One, in which Louis Whitsell resides, and Nameoki Two, home area of Richard Peck, were placed in the same board district.

Precinct One includes the Lakeview Estates area of Pontoon Beach, and Two is East Madison.

The new district 25 also will consist of Nameoki Four, State Park Place, and Seven, Arlington Heights, both represented by Peck; and Nameoki Nine, Quiet Valley subdivision, 10, Gualight Walk, and 12, Parkview Estates, all currently represented by Whitsell.

The former District 25 served by Peck included Granite City Precinct 12, now placed in Herbert "Junior" Milton's District 22, and Collinsville 13, now added to Michael Semanish's District 27 in the Collinsville area.

Whitsell's District 26 formerly consisted of Nameoki 1-9-10-12, all placed in District 25; Nameoki Five, New Haven, Manor, Six, Wilshe Manor, and Eight, Breckenridge area, all now made a part of William B. Webb's Granite City District 19; Nameoki Precinct 11,

Maryville School area, newly added to Roderick Bauder's District 23; and Collinsville Precinct 10, now placed in a

Cyclist killed

Richard A. Schaefer, 29, of 1036 2nd St., Venice, was killed and Timothy J. Chappel, 21, of the same address, was injured when their motorcycle left the roadway of Route 3 formerly at the curve near Independence Drive at 1:55 a.m. Wednesday.

Chappel told authorities that Mr. Schaefer was northbound at a high rate of speed and disregarded pleas from Chappel, a passenger, to slow down.

Chappel said when the cycle left the roadway, he jumped off, bumping his head. The cycle continued on before going over the embankment about two-tenths of a mile south of Rock Road. Chappel walked to a house at 2301

Independence Drive and summoned police and a city ambulance. When police arrived, Chappel said he was not seriously injured and asked police to go to where the cycle crashed.

Officers found Mr. Schaefer without signs of life about 32 paces from his motorcycle. The cycle was approximately 129 paces from the edge of the roadway, police said.

Madison County Deputy Coroner William Sternberg was called to the scene and declared Mr. Schaefer dead. Chappel was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment. He was bleeding from the head, police said. Additional details on Mr. Schaefer appear in today's obituary column.

Individual responsibility for health

(This is the last in a series of fifteen articles exploring "The Nation's Health." In this article, Dr. Philip R. Lee, director of the Health Policy Program at the School of Medicine, University of California, San Francisco, discusses what we can do as individuals and as a society to improve our health in the future. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

Although Americans are healthier than ever, many are asking why we are not enjoying better health and longer life.

There seems to be a gap between the money we pour into health care and biomedical research, and the benefits we receive as individuals and as a society. New technologies may improve the treatment of patients but they are not necessarily decreasing the incidence of illness.

The chronic illnesses of today do not seem to be responding to the efforts of modern medicine, as did the infectious diseases that were the great killers only a generation or two ago.

The realities of modern health problems point to a new emphasis on individual and social responsibility for health and a decreased dependence on the medical profession.

The chronic degenerative diseases of the mid-20th Century — cardiovascular diseases, arthritis, cancer, mental illness, stroke — cannot be conquered by medicine alone.

Their multiple causes are rooted not only in our biological makeup and our responses to infectious agents, but in our behavior — and such complex social factors as poverty and education — as well as in the modern industrial, urban environment.

Furthermore, although the health care system makes a significant contribution to the health of the population, it is directed at sickness — preventing it, diagnosing it, treating it, and reducing its discomfort and disability. Yet we have looked to this system not only to treat our diseases, but to keep us healthy. And our expectations about health and longevity have increased in recent decades.

More and more people have come to appreciate these realities, and they have begun to take personal responsibility for their own well-being.

Even as the health status of the population has improved, people have asked how much the improvements were related to medical care — new therapies, increased numbers of health care personnel, and better access to medical services — and how much to other factors, such as changes in our personal habits.

Increasing numbers of Americans are changing their smoking, eating, and exercise habits.

Health professionals and consumers are beginning to question the effectiveness of some expensive new health technologies.

Self-care and mutual aid groups have sprung up all over the country. Communities, too, are taking action to deal with health-related problems. They are demanding effective action to deal with chemical waste, radiation, and other environmental hazards.

Problems of hunger and malnutrition, which are primarily associated with poverty, have been recognized, and major efforts to alleviate them have been initiated.

INDIVIDUAL BEHAVIOR

The most important behavior change in terms of the health of the population has been the sharp decline in cigarette smoking among adults.

Its studies identified the relationship of smoking to lung cancer, coronary heart disease, and chronic obstructive pulmonary disease, millions of Americans quit smoking.

Millions more decided not to start smoking.

Probably no single action will have as much effect on the future health of Americans as decisions about cigarette smoking.

The American diet — high in calories, animal fats, and refined sugar, and relatively low in complex carbohydrates and fiber — is a contributing factor to obesity, coronary artery disease, diabetes, diverticulitis, and cancer of the colon.

This diet has been changing slowly, but dramatically, as more and more people link their eating habits to their health.

Low levels of exercise are related to a greater likelihood of heart attacks and obesity. Exercise for health and pleasure has suddenly become popular among all ages.

Almost 40 percent of adults now exercise regularly, a dramatic change in the past decade.

COLLECTIVE ACTION. Improvements in national mortality and morbidity rates, as well as in the health of individuals, depend not only on what we do individually — to stop smoking, improve eating habits, limit drug and alcohol consumption, use seat belts, exercise regularly, and reduce stress — but on what we do collectively as well.

Access to good medical care is vital for all of us. But changes in the national health status are also unlikely without continued improvements in economic, social, and environmental conditions.

Improved health will also require continued advances in research.

Poverty and environmental hazards play a key role in our health. It has been demonstrated that low socioeconomic circumstances compound many health problems.

These circumstances are associated with malnutrition and violence, as well as with a heavy burden of chronic illness and disability.

Environmental hazards pose equally formidable barriers to health.

They are compounded by strong resistance to change by special interests. Some industries oppose regulation and claim that it costs too much to reduce pollution and protect our health.

Information is withheld about the potential adverse effects of food additives, as well as the potential hazard of herbicides, pesticides, asbestos fibers, and many other industrial toxins and wastes that contaminate our food, water, land and air.

Long-term effects of mass-marketed drugs and therapies — such as birth control pills, estrogen, IUDs, and radiation — are unknown.

The U.S. government — charged with protecting the public's health — withholds information about the hazards of nuclear testing and nuclear waste disposal.

Special interests often influence public policy in such a way as to make healthy changes in lifestyle difficult, if not impossible.

For example, although anti-smoking campaigns have succeeded in changing the habits of many smokers, powerful forces continue to support smoking.

Advertising by a strong tobacco industry — Tax policies that do nothing to inhibit the sale of cigarettes.

Subsidies to tobacco farmers.

Social norms that sanction smoking, particularly among women and teenagers.

And inadequate enforcement of laws against selling cigarettes to minors.

Equally powerful forces encourage the use of alcohol and drugs.

There are many other examples, from lead poisoning to gun control to accident prevention, where collective action is needed if the health of individuals is to be protected.

Collective action is also required to make health care available to all who need it. First priority should be the 40 million Americans who have little or no health insurance and cannot afford the full benefits of modern medical care.

Provisions of care to these people will require action by federal and state governments, health insurance companies, hospitals, and health professionals.

Changes are required in government-financed medical care programs, Medicare and Medicaid, if the aged and the poor are not to find medical care increasingly difficult to obtain because of its rising costs.

SHAPING A HEALTHIER FUTURE. Support is also necessary for expanded research efforts.

The complex interrelationships of biological, behavioral, social, economic, and environmental factors that affect health mean that biological sciences as well as the behavioral sciences must be included.

Although we do not fully understand why we have witnessed dramatic shifts in morbidity and mortality in this century, we have learned a great deal that should help us shape a healthier future. We know that:

1. Health is determined by biological, behavioral, social, economic and environmental factors.

2. Social and behavioral sciences research, in addition to biomedical research, are critical to future improvements in health and health care.

3. Medical care is not synonymous with health, even though it has much to contribute toward improving health and caring for the sick.

4. The dichotomy of personal responsibility versus social responsibility for health is a false one; the two are inextricably related.

5. Improving the health of Americans will require both individual and collective effort.

Progress in improving health and health care is likely to be dramatic in the coming decades if we heed the lessons of the recent past.

We can determine, as individuals and as a society, our chances for a long and healthy life.

Additional legal action taken against GC Journal's alleged anti-union moves

The National Labor Relations Board has accepted and agreed to study unfair labor practices complaints lodged against the Granite City Journal by the St. Louis Newspaper Guild on behalf of four of the Journal's former employees, the Guild announced Monday.

In addition to the unfair labor charges, the Journal is facing a lawsuit from its former president and publisher, Tom Rees, and a complaint filed with the Illinois Department of Labor by Joannie Dietrich, who was the Journal's promotions manager.

An election to determine whether the majority of Granite City Journal employees want to be represented by the Guild (union) is to be held one week from today (June 25 from 9 to 10 a.m.), but some employees believe that the management may have "tipped the scales" away from the union by firing four employees, promoting others to management positions, where they cannot vote, and bringing in employees who will vote against the union.

Three Journal management employees were fired June 8—Editor George Williams, Sports Editor Mike Reilly and Advertising Manager David Wachter. They and an advertising salesman fired two weeks earlier, Mike Hildebrand, complained to the Guild that they believe their firings were part of the company's attempts to keep the union from representing employees of the Granite City Journal.

The Guild filed complaints with the NLRB June 11 and the NLRB has indicated it will take about two weeks to investigate the allegations.

DANCING LESSONS

Midwestern United States Imperial Club, an organization for both beginning and experienced disco Imperial Swing dancers, will meet at 7 p.m. Sunday in The West Community Center in the Cottonwood Subdivision in Glen Carbon right off Rt. 150. The brief business meeting will be followed by dance lessons and general dancing from 7:30 to 10:30. Experienced teachers give lessons and are available throughout the evening.

Williams was interviewed by NLRB investigators this week and the other three complainants are expected to be interviewed soon.

The complaints charge the Granite City Journal with firing the management employees for failing to carry out "unlawful surveillance" of union activities of the employees and failing to prevent obstructions or harassment of employees involved in selecting a collective bargaining representative.

After investigating the allegations, the NLRB will set a date for a hearing, unless both the Guild and the Journal management can come to an agreement on an appropriate solution to the problem, according to a Guild spokesman.

Rees, former president and publisher of the Granite City Journal and later the Alton Citizen, another Donnelly free publication, alleged Monday that Donnelly Publications, which operates the several free papers in the bi-state metropolitan region, has attempted to block union activities before.

Rees also contended that the company had no right to fire Hildebrand for allegedly delivering court subpoenas on company time, since Rees hired Hildebrand and, "I authorized him to do what he did when I hired him. I told him OK," Rees said.

Rees has filed a separate suit in Madison County Circuit Court against the Granite City Journal, the Alton Citizen and Jim Donnelly of Journal Newspapers, Inc.

The suit alleges that the company agreed to pay Rees, in addition to his salary, an annual bonus of one percent of the net of the newspaper he was managing. He said he was paid that bonus for 1979, but was not paid the bonus thereafter. He believes that the Granite City Journal owes him about $3,000 to $4,000 for the time he worked there. He left the Journal chain June 15.

Rees, who now works for a St. Louis daily newspaper, said he was fortunate that he refused to sign an agreement with the Journals that would have prohibited him from working for any competing news media within 100 miles of any Surban Newspaper operation for 18 months after leaving the Surban chain. He said other former Donnelly employees have been sued for up to $1 million by the Donnellys for allegedly violating the agreements and have lost their new jobs subsequently.

At least one had the permission of his supervisor to go to work for another newspaper, but still was sued, Rees said.

Former employees say all employees of the Granite City Journal must sign such an agreement before they are hired. Those who refuse to sign are not hired and employees who refuse to sign have their salaries frozen until they do, Rees alleged. He said he was among those who refused to sign such an agreement, enabling him to work for another paper today.

In addition to Rees' lawsuit, papers have been served on the Journal to answer charges filed with the Illinois Department of Labor by Joannie Dietrich, former Granite City Journal promotions manager who now works for the Belleville News-Democrat.

She alleges that the Granite City Journal failed to compensate her for two weeks of vacation time to which she was entitled. She left the Journal at the end of March. A hearing on her allegation is scheduled for Monday in Collinsville.

Rees contends he can to publish here with the aid of reporters and advertising

Nameoki board

new district along with Edwardsville 7-8-11-18.

Bauder also will have Nameoki Precinct Three, Miracle Manor; it had been a part of Morris W. Miles' District 16, which predominantly is the Mitchell area.

Bauder's region will include portions of three townships—Granite City, Venice and Nameoki. Bauder retains Venice 1-2-4-5-10-11 and Granite City 9-29 but loses Granite City 10 to Frank Dalko's District 24.

Miles' territory, established by Wednesday's vote—along with the other districts—for the next ten years, will consist of all seven Chouteau Township precincts.

Formerly, Chouteau Three was in George Schmittling's District 15 in the Wood River area.

Unchanged for the 1980s will be the district of County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer, District 20 will continue to consist of Granite City 18-19-20-27-28-32-36-37.

Daniel Partney of District 21 will continue to have Granite City 11-13-14-17-26-35. He will gain Precinct 22 from Webb.

In addition to the three Nameoki precincts added to Webb's district, Webb will serve Granite City 21-23-24-30-31-34.

Webb will no longer represent Granite City 16-22-33. As noted, 22 goes to Partney; 16 and 33 are newly placed in the district served by Milton.

Milton retains Granite City 4-5-7-8-15-25. He adds Precinct 12 from Peck and loses Six to Dalko.

Dalko gains both Precinct Six from Milton and Granite City 10 from Bauder while continuing to serve all of his present territory, Venice 3-6-7-8-9 and Granite City 1-2-3.

In addition to the Peck-Whitsell redistricting squeeze, eliminating District 26, Donald Dreith of Alton will lose his County Board district, District 11.

No specific numbers were designated Wednesday for the new Edwardsville-Collinsville district or for a new district consisting of Saline 1, Fort Russell 1-3-5, Marine and Pin.

Populations of the 29 new districts will vary from a low of 8,057 in Alan Danstetter's District Two, Jarvis and St. Jacob townships (Troy area) to a high of 9,012 in James Stalcup's Wood River area District 14.

Estimated census counts in the new Quad-City area county districts are:

District 16, Miles, 8,627.
District 19, Webb, 8,524.
District 20, Hagnauer, 8,940.
District 21, Partney, 8,083.
District 22, Milton, 8,509.
District 23, Bauder, 8,141.
District 24, Dalko, 8,687.
And District 25, Peck and Whitsell, 8,587.

The population figures for new Districts 21 and 22 may be slightly different than listed. By a last-minute amendment at the meeting, Milton agreed to take Precinct 16 and Partney agreed to take Precinct 17, the opposite of the way they were presented at a Legislative Committee meeting Tuesday evening. The board agreed with the two members' wishes.

An effort Wednesday by Semanin to revise the committee's proposals affecting the district and those of Dunstan and Frank Vivod failed to gain majority support.

GC faces

are likely to be presented to the council Tuesday evening and decisions whether to borrow or reduce jobs may be made at that time.

Alderman Fred "Pat" Schuman, a member of the finance committee, agreed that there seems to be a problem. "We have suggested cuts in the past. I think some other aldermen now realize that something needs to be done. We have to take the initiative."

"I have felt all along that people would tolerate a small tax increase, if it was accompanied by cuts so the people would realize that the city is in a bad position and we intend to cut some of the fat off and raise taxes slightly to keep our head above water," Schuman said.

Over the last several years, he said, the city has not raised taxes significantly while inflation has gone up 40 percent or more.

Schuman added, "We (the finance committee) have recommended all along that we have some type of plan to slowly withdraw from the use of federal revenue sharing funds for salaries, but there is more realization now that something needs to be done."

Bowler declined to discuss specific bills the city may owe, but confirmed that utility bills are among them. "All the bills are a concern. We now are in the process of finding out what has and hasn't been paid since the treasurer has been (City Treasurer Nick Petrillo has been hospitalized for the past week recuperating from surgery).

"We don't know what bills are due because of a lack of communication between departments. Nobody knows exactly what bills have and haven't been paid."

"However, that doesn't excuse not paying the garbage collection bill for two months. We have a separate tax levy for that and the money should be there. Both that and insurance have separate tax levies," he noted.

Schuman said he would be in favor of reducing manpower in some departments and possibly eliminating one or more city departments, if it is necessary. Asked which departments could be in jeopardy, Schuman said, adding, "Some people feel strongly about some departments. Others feel strongly about others. We are going to have to sit down and try to do what's right."

Muscular Dystrophy expenses reach record high nationally

The combined national and local expenditures of the Muscular Dystrophy Association reached an all-time high of $77,872,480 in 1980, a 14.7 percent increase over the previous year, Lawrence Schinsky, president of MDA's Mississippi Valley chapter has announced.

Of every dollar spent by MDA last year, 80.7 cents went directly to benefit patients, their families, and the community, according to the year-end audit of consolidated national and local expenditures prepared by Ernst & Whinney, certified public accountants, Schinsky stated.

In 1980, the association's fundraising achievement provided a total of $73,889,869, surpassing the previous year's record high by $3.7 million. More funds were spent on MDA's programs than ever before, but due to rapidly rising costs, especially in the area of the extensive free medical services MDA provides, expenditures on program and related services exceeded income.

Expenditures for program services in 1980 were a record $62,965,122. These services include worldwide research; free diagnostic, therapeutic, and orthopedic patient care; patient recreation and transportation; professional education and training; and public health education. The largest single program expenditure—$36,628,255—was for medical services.

The sum of $20,437,493 was spent for MDA's worldwide basic and clinical research program. Expenditures for professional education and training totaled $1,889,861, and $5,939,593 was devoted to public health education. The Ernst & Whinney audit determined that only 16.5 percent of MDA's 1980 expenditures—$12,806,188—went for combined national and local fund-raising costs; and that 2.8 percent—$2,161,170—was used for administrative and general purposes.

"MDA continues to maintain one of the best ratios of expenditures for program services to those for fund raising and management in the voluntary health agency field," Schinsky said.

During 1980, more than 220 free MDA outpatient clinics served patients afflicted with any of 40 neuromuscular diseases covered by the association's programs. Additionally, MDA supported ongoing research at its ten major university-based research centers and nearly 800 individual research projects worldwide.

Big Band series to start June 23

The Granite City Park District will offer a series of five "Big Band" concerts this summer in various local parks, starting at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, June 23, at 27th Street and Delmar Avenue in Wilson Park.

The concerts, a new program for the park district, are being presented with support from the Music Performance Trust Fund of the American Federation of Musicians, Local 717.

Band Leader Stan Fornaszewski, drummer and vibraphonist, will be featured with his 18-piece Big Band Machine in the five presentations.

"The band has been working hard getting ready for the concert series and I want personally to invite everyone to come out and hear the programs," Fornaszewski said.

"We will be playing music from the 'Big Band' era of the 1940's, as well as some of the newer music of today," he added.

Park Superintendent Harold Brown is expecting a "good turnout for this series."

He said the district will provide seating on a first-come, first-served basis, but suggested patrons furnish their own lawn chairs when possible.

John Fornaszewski will serve as master-of-ceremonies.

In addition to June 23, the remaining concert dates and locations are:

Thursday, July 9, at Stearns Park, Amos and Franklin Avenues; Thursday, July 23, at Lincoln Place Community Center, 822 Niedringhaus Ave.

Thursday, Aug. 6, at Worthen Park, Maryville Road and Parkview Drive; and Thursday, Aug. 13, at Wilson Park.

The public is invited to attend the series without charge, the park officer said. All concerts will begin at 7:30 p.m.

City workers vote in favor of union

Seventeen of the eligible 22 Granite City employees voted Wednesday night in favor of representation by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME) Council 31.

The vote was taken after two previous attempts by the union to be recognized as the bargaining agent for the employees, mostly clerical workers, were thwarted by the city council.

Votes were cast by all 22 eligible in the mayor's conference room in the City Hall shortly after 5 p.m. with Rev. James Shortall of Sacred Heart Church officiating.

Rev. Shortall tallied the votes subsequent to the voting with only five "no" votes being recorded. A simple majority of the city employees was needed for AFSCME representation.

Those eligible to vote, by department, included: Inspection and Zoning secretary-clerk; City Clerk's office—clerk, payroll clerk, assistant to payroll clerk.

Democracy plan to oppose a Republican redistricting plan in which a new 112th district would pit against each other State Representatives Sam Wolf and Wyvetter Young; it would be paired in the 56th Senate district with the 111th (Alton and Edwardsville) in which Rep. Jim McPike resides. Democrats say the proposed state remap would favor Representatives Everett Steele and Celeste Steele, Republicans, and Democrat Monroe Flinn.

Assisting in the kitchen were Ruby Corbitt, Caroline Lux, Edith Youth, Loretta Wysocki, Martin Schulte, Ida Cassel and Jennie Moody.

The afternoon was spent socially with games being played.

Among the winners were Mrs. Moody, Clara Earney, Evelyn Smith, Helen Thiele, Schulte, Florrie Musick and Maude Lewis.

jury opposes his reappointment.

A letter from State's Attorney Donald Weber, read at yesterday's County Board meeting, suggested that the Board of Review be expanded from three to six, under an emergency clause.

The emergency is that a heavy backlog of real estate property assessment hearings annually delays completion of the taxing cycle, forcing some governmental agencies to borrow funds to operate.

Hagmuer said expansion of the review board might be helpful but noted that there is a shortage of individuals who are qualified for appointment by passing a state-conducted examination.

The next scheduled examination of property value knowledge is set for June 30.

County Board Member Jack Frandson commented that too many hearings are being requested by property owners. He urged that steps be taken to remedy whatever factors are prompting thousands of families and businesses to seek hearings on their valuations.

"Let's heal the sore, not just put more saline on it," Frandson said. Discussing the suggested expansion of the Board of Review, Hagmuer said meetings on the topic are being scheduled with the County Board's Finance Committee and with Review Board members.

A discussion showed that each owner has a legal right to an individual hearing if he is dissatisfied with a proposed assessment of property, and that the county has no choice but to provide the hearings.

Assessor nearly triples valuation of golf course

By BILL WINTER
of the Press-Record
(Sixth in a series)

How much is a golf course worth? Opinions on this question differ sharply between township and county officials.

For the 1974 tax year, the Golfside Development Corporation (Arlington Golf Club) assessed value was set at $75,000 by the Collinsville Township assessor.

The assessor nearly tripled that figure to $215,000 for 1975 but his proposed valuation was changed to $100,000 by the Board of Review through issuance of a certificate of error.

Another $215,000 assessment was proposed by the township official for 1976, reduced to $150,000 by a certificate of error.

For 1977, a $191,350 township-set valuation was changed to $140,000 by a certificate of error. (Assessments are intended to represent one-third of actual value.)

Golfside property taxes paid for the 1974-77 period were $3,376, $4,722, $6,996 and $6,510, in that order. Business address of the corporation is shown as 1801 Fourth St., Madison.

A former officer of the firm told the Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) of the Illinois Department of Law Enforcement that in 1976, for the 1975 tax year, a large tax bill was received—“much higher than the year before.”

He wrote a letter to the Board of Review relating that the assessment had nearly tripled and that his corporation felt that the assessment was unjustified.

Interviewed Sept. 18, 1979, he said that soon after mailing the letter, the corporation received “a corrected tax bill which reduced the taxes.”

He recalled following the same procedure for the next two years—with the same results.

As of June 1979, he said, he had sold his interest in Arlington to another stockholder, Mayor Mike Sasyk of Madison.

During the interview, the former corporate officer and former stockholder was asked “if he had ever appeared before the Board of Review at any time. He stated that he never had.”

“He was asked if any other person had appeared for Golfside Development. He stated that he was the only one that handled the payment of taxes.”

A property record card shows the acreage was 189.5. The site included a 4929-foot building with an estimated replacement value of $14,406.

One of the documents lists corporation owners as Mike Sasyk, Winifred Sasyk, Kelly Dutko and Shirley Dutko.

Each of the three certificates of error was issued in late July, each a year apart.

Collinsville Assessor Peter Poletti Jr. told the DCI May 21, 1979, that Golfside Development is an 18-hole golf course and country club, including a swimming pool, restaurant and bar.

The reason given by the Board of Review for its July 31, 1978, assessment reduction from $191,350 to $140,000 was a mistake in computation, records indicate.

Poletti said that “at this time he is not clear on the property, due to the fact he has not had a chance to check and compare this property with other country clubs and golf courses of equal size.”

The DCI said it learned that an 18-hole golf course owned by E-G Golf Course, called the Sunset Hills Country Club, Edwardsville, has 130 acres with a swimming pool, tennis courts and dining room; in 1977, its assessment was listed as $238,500.

James Barton, Madison County supervisor of assessments and clerk of the Board of Review, told the DCI that he had seen the Arlington golf course and had compared it with other golf courses in the Madison County area.

“Barton believes that the Arlington golf course is not worth what the assessor assesses it at.”

“Barton does not feel that the owners could get near the price that it is being assessed at. So, therefore, he felt the certificate of error reducing it was justified.”

Occupancy permit

Fisk told the aldermen. He then rebuffed several fellow aldermen for failure to review the sample document.

“I asked you to look and all of you got scared and you didn’t do it. I personally handed each of you a copy at the last council meeting. Then a realtor calls one alderman and he tells the realtor that he has not seen the ordinance and the ordinance committee has it. If that’s not a bluff off, I would like to know what is.”

“You better look at the ordinance passed in 1963, because your home won’t pass it now,” he warned.

Alderman Warren Decatur of the Fourth Ward, who has been a supporter of the proposed housing standards document, commented, “Most of us have seen some of the residences and projects that are pretty abominable in this city.” He said one young couple purchased a house on Iowa Street and found the basement walls were crumbling, the furnace was broken and there were other deficiencies which cost them more to repair than they paid for the house.

“What we are asking for is truth in selling. Realtors should tell these people what needs repairing. These are the kind of things I think we should stop.”

I don’t think the city should force anything down anyone’s throat, but we have an ordinance and it should be enforced.

“Some of the rental property in this city is very bad. I call these people slum landlords. The public should be protected from buying and renting the types of things we have now. We should try better to do a better job,” Decatur commented.

The main difference between the sample ordinance given to the aldermen and the document passed in 1963 is a provision in the sample document that each property about to receive a new occupancy be inspected by the city and approved for an occupancy permit before the utilities would be allowed to turn on the gas, electricity or water.

The sample document also calls for minimum space for bedrooms, and other rooms designed to avoid overcrowding. Fisk pointed to the 1963 ordinance and noted such requirements for minimum floor space are included in it and are now in effect. “It’s the same darn ordinance, just about,” he contended. However, he admitted, “the penalties for not complying with this (the 1963 ordinance) are absolutely null and void.”

The aldermen then voted 8 to 4 to table the mandate for the ordinance committee to bring in a proposed housing standards ordinance. Voting no were Decatur, Fisk, Kittel and Alderman Fred “Pat” Schuman. Absent were Mac Warfield of the Sixth Ward and Mike Modrusic of the Seventh Ward.

After the vote, one man in the audience accused the council of “throwing out the baby with the bath water.” He contended, “You’ve got to have that building code. We can live with that code,” he stated.

Later he admitted that some changes from the sample document are needed, but said the basic idea of having an updated ordinance setting housing standards is essential to keep the city from decaying. He said the standards passed by the council in 1963 were written in 1962 and many of them do not apply to the housing problems in the city today.

After the vote, some aldermen indicated that they agreed with the man and will continue to attempt to find an updated housing code which will be acceptable to the council and the public.

homes and not in the planned easements.

Since the line through their yards is a main line and serves all of Mitchell east of Maryville Road, resolution of the sewer placement issue is considered an important factor in getting final state approval of the sewer program.

Whitsell stresses that a rate hike is not needed. “That is not going to help us. Next year we won’t need it. I think this is a premature thing. The county should advance the money and realize they will get it back,” Whitsell said.

He was unable to attend yesterday’s county board meeting, due to work commitments, but said he did not believe his vote would change the outcome.

“We had this thing all planned. We paid people to make studies on how it was supposed to work. But Granite City made us work six months without income during the disagreement over the rate they would charge us for treatment. We had to operate without income.”

“Since the sewers opened, we have taken in $50,000 in tap-on fees. This more than offsets our expenditures. That money should have gone to Granite City, but had to pay interest to Wilson (S.M. Wilson & Co., contractor for the sewers) on the money we owed them,” Whitsell explained.

He also noted that the state has refused a request to release half of the five percent it owes to the sewer district.

Miles told the Press-Record Tuesday, “I am bitterly opposed to it (the rate hike). It was a shocker to me. I think it is absolutely wrong. We should have had a year to try our plan and see how it worked out.”

The package presented to the county board yesterday was to transfer $200,000 from the motor fuel tax fund to the sewer program for a loan. It also contained the rate increase and a provision dismissing Attorney H. Carl Runge as the sewer district’s attorney.

Miles concluded that the motive of those who pushed for the rate increase was that they want immediate money for the county “and I think that’s wrong.”

Members of the county special sewer committee are not the only ones who objected to the rate increase. During the sewers and drainage committee of the Chamber of Commerce Monday, real estate developer Jim Whitt contended that the county had deceived residents of the sewer district who voted for the bond issue to finance the local share of constructing the sewers. “Had we known there would be a $400 tap-on fee (proposed for Jan. 1, 1982), had we known the monthly fee would be $15.80, and had we known as developers that the county was going to dictate who the engineer and contractor for our subdivision sewers were to be, we would have objected very strongly. This has got to stop some place,” Whitt concluded.

Wilmsmeyer on banking board

A Granite City banker has been elected to the board of directors of the Association for Modern Banking in Illinois, which has in excess of 275 members.

Melvin C. Wilmsmeyer, president of the First Granite City National Bank, was elected to the one-year voluntary office, effective Sept. 1. Wilmsmeyer was elected during the 1981 Annual Meeting of AMBI, held recently at the Marriott Lincolnshire Resort, in Lincolnshire, Ill.

Also serving are 29 other board members from throughout the state. They assist in policy-making for the full-service trade association, which offers bankers’ educational programs and supports banking industry legislative proposals which the association judges to be of benefit to the Illinois banking industry through the AMBI Bankers’ Legislative Advocacy Program.

Fulbright awards to six

Six faculty members at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will be serving as Fulbright lecturers at universities in five countries around the world during the 1981-82 academic year.

Richard Millett, professor of historical studies, will be lecturing this summer at the University of Valle in Cali, and the Universities of Javeriana, de los Andes, and Nacio in Bogota, Colombia.

Herbert Rosenthal, professor of historical studies, will be teaching at Tamkang University in Taipei, Taiwan during the academic year.

Kurt Glaser, professor of government and public affairs, will spend the academic year at Tamkang University in Taiwan.

Jack Shaheen, professor of mass communications, will be teaching at Jordan University in the Middle East during the year.

Ernest Schusky, professor of anthropology, will be serving a short-term lecturership at Seoul National University and Ewha Women's College in Seoul, Korea next spring.

Dr. Neville Gilmore, professor in the department of community and preventive dentistry in the School of Dental Medicine, will be spending the year teaching at the University of Nairobi, in Nairobi, Kenya.

The SIUE Fulbright awards are among 500 grants given for university teaching and advanced research in more than 100 countries for the 1981-82 academic year.

Richard Crabbe, executive associate of the Council for International Exchange of Scholars in Washington, D.C., offered his congratulations to the University, saying, "The number of Fulbright awards in Illinois usually ranges between 30 to 40 each year. Hence I congratulate you on having six awards for the 1981-82 year."

The purpose of the Fulbright Program, now in its 35th year, is to enable the U.S. government to increase mutual understanding between the American people and the peoples of other countries. Fulbright awards for university teaching and advanced research are administered by the Council, in cooperation with the U.S. International Communication Agency.

MARION HARTWICK,

Lincoln plays set to resume

On Saturday, June 20, the Great American People Show, winner of the governor's award for the arts for 1980, will open its sixth season at Lincoln's New Salem State Park.

"Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln" and "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight," two dramas spanning a century of American history from the birth of President Lincoln to World War I, will be performed on successive nights, six days a week.

Both plays, under the direction of John Ahart, will run through Aug. 22. Last year marked the transformation of the Great American People Show from a single-production outdoor theater to a full repertory company.

Recent funding from the National Endowment for the Humanities will make possible the creation of a third historical piece to be performed next season in repertory with the present two productions.

The company performs on a multi-level stage in the Kelso Hollow Theatre at the edge of the reconstructed New Salem Village. The stage was built in 1976 for production of "Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln." The play, written by Ahart and the original company, was hailed by critics as "not just another Lincoln play, but an experience." The General Assembly named it the official bicentennial play of the state.

The Illinois Historical Society honored it as a drama which, "not only adheres faithfully to the facts of history but also captures the spirit of Lincoln and the times in which he lived as has no other presentation of Lincoln's words."

"Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight," a play tracing the Lincoln legend as seen through the eyes of three Illinois poets, Vachel Lind- say, Carl Sandburg and Edgar Lee Masters, premiered in 1980. It was written by James Hurt.

Critics called it "brilliant" and "another strong piece of historical drama which deserves and demands to be seen."

In the words of another critic, "Together the two plays form a unit which adds up to one of the definitive depictions of Lincoln and his legacy to America."

Both plays use versatile actors to weave together drama, poetry and music in a unique revocation of history.

"Your Obedient Servant, A. Lincoln" will be performed on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from June 20 through Aug. 22. "Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight" will be presented on Wednesdays, Fridays and Sundays.

The presence of such historical sites as Lincoln's home, Lincoln's tomb, the Old State Capitol, and Masters' Spoon River country, with the plays set in Petersburg, Ill., have made touring the area especially attractive to school and family groups.

Ticket information is available at the Great American People Show, Box 401, Petersburg, Ill. 62673 (telephone 217-632-7755).

Rediscovering Cahokia festival scheduled at Mounds July 25-26

"Rediscover Cahokia" annual festival will be held on July 25 and 26.

The weekend event is scheduled to demonstrate what life must have been like a thousand years ago, when a prehistoric civilization flourished in the area. Just a few miles from the Mississippi River, the largest prehistoric city in the United States arose, surrounded by huge burial mounds and temples. Monk's Mound is the largest prehistoric structure in the United States.

"Hands-on" demonstrations are scheduled continuously throughout the weekend, including: flintknapping (arrowhead making); stone drilling; painting of animal skins; weaving; pottery making; and food preparation.

In addition, guests will be treated to walking and bus tours of the area, and can watch Indian dances.

Among the areas that can be toured are the massive Monk's Mound; a "Woodhenge" (similar to Stonehenge in England, and used for astronomical predictions); a mound where over 300 burials, some sacrificial, have been excavated; a "borrow pit" where the Indians removed dirt to create the tremendous mounds; small grass houses built Indian-style; and a garden planted with foods that prehistoric residents

County acts to bolster sewer finances; regulations delayed; end Attorney Runge's service

By a 13-11 vote, the Madison County Board on Wednesday decided to delay for one month its consideration of a comprehensive ordinance regulating the use of public and private sewers and drains.

But six other actions were taken by the board as it sought to assure a sound financial footing for Special Service Area One, the district that installed sanitary sewers in portions of Chouteau, Venice and Nameoki townships.

The board voted to: —Seek state grants to construct a $150,000 maintenance facility and a $17,500 general fund monitoring system. Dissenting were Board Members Jack Frandsen, Homer Henke and Michael Semanisin.

—Raise present sewer rates from $11.80 to $15.80 effective July 1. (An article on this rate change appears on Page 1 of today's Press-Record.)

This was opposed by Board Members Roderick Bauder, Frank Dutko, Morris Miles, Daniel Partney, George Schilling, Frank Vivod and William Webb. Louis Whitsell also was opposed to the rate hike but was absent.

—Transfer $300,000 from the federal aid matching fund to the sewer service area, and simultaneously repay a $97,500 loan that had been obtained from the motor fuel tax fund. Frandsen and Henke voted against providing the $300,000 loan.

—Have all sewer legal work performed by the office of Madison County State's Attorney Donald Weber, except for designation of Larry Calvo "to handle Brandon Heights condemnation and for court work."

The action was interpreted as dismissing Carl Runge as attorney for the special service area. Assistant State's Attorney Marshall "Zeke" Smith said he was dissatisfied with Runge's efforts, and cited the currently proposed (by Smith) comprehensive sewer regulation document as an example of something that should have been done a year ago.

The proposed Ordinance 814, now delayed for a month, is intended to control use of public and private sewers and drains, private sewage disposal systems, installation and construction of building sewers, disposal of water and waste into county sewers, establishment of penalties for violations, levying of charges for waste water services, including user charges, and recovery of industrial use costs.

Morris Miles, a County Board member and chairman of the sewer area committee, succeeded by the two-vote margin in delaying board consideration of the proposed regulations, saying the sewer committee had not been able to study them in advance of the board meeting.

A discussion brought out that Smith had conferred mainly with the finance committee, rather than the sewer committee. Smith was unhappy with Wednesday's delay and said he is trying to have two board members from other areas of the county added to the present sewer committee membership, which is composed entirely of Quad-Cityans.

He said he does not blame Quad-Cityans for being against a sewer rate hike, but stressed his view that a rate increase is essential due to the current absence of federal state payments on the sewer work.

County Board Chairman Nelson Hagnauer said the sewer program initially was described as a service that "would not cost the county a dime."

Hagnauer conceded that costs have been encountered. But he stressed his continuing belief that the project will not prove to be a cost to the county, ultimately.

Board Member James Heil chided the state's attorney's office for what he said were $100 hourly charges, and succeeded in inserting a line of $50 an hour for sewer-related legal work. The resolution had mentioned pay "at current Bar rates."

Dissenting votes on the legal services motion dissolving Runge were cast by Bauder, Dutko, Miles, Herbert Milton, Partney, Richard Peck and Semanisin.

Pay $103,783 to the S. M. Wilson company, general contractor for the sewer installation; $8,585 in standing purchase orders; $5,000 for Quiet Valley area work; $1,003 for Deatherage condemnation action; and current in its billings from the City of Granite City for sewage treatment.

No dissenting votes were heard on this motion.

—Authorize the county auditor, office of state's attorney, sewer committee chairman and finance committee chairman to negotiate a settlement with the contractor of up to half of $391,331 currently owed to Wilson by the service area. Smith said the county has been paying 20 percent interest on its obligation to Wilson. He added that at least some of the money should be paid at this time, and noted that the state is withholding another $382,000 from the contractor.

County Auditor Arthur "Pete" Fields was present to explain his concern over unpaid debts and an imbalance in the service area's revenue and expenditures.

Earlier in the meeting, in stressing the sewer committee's disagreement with some of Smith's recommendations, Miles cited as an example a proposed future increase in the tap-on charge to $400. The committee opposes a charge of that amount.

Smith exerted strong verbal pressure on the board, sometimes interrupting board members' comments. The legal adviser to the board, appointed by State's Attorney Weber, urged county solvency and said that every month which passes is costing the county thousands of dollars in interest costs.

He said the county government is paying prime rate plus one-half percent interest on funds owed to Wilson.

Smith commented that an original estimate of $450,000 as the cost of a sewer being may be high. He said some engineers think a $100,000 facility would be adequate, but that in any case some type of building must be provided.

Board Chairman Hagnauer said there has been much negative talk about county funds being expended in the Quad-Cities, and noted that this community also generates considerable amounts of taxes spent elsewhere in Madison County.

Board Member James Heil said Attorney Calvo is the son of the chief circuit judge.

Hagnauer said Calvo's experience with sewer legal work began before Horace Calvo became chief judge, and a board member pointed out that Joseph Barr has been chosen as the new chief judge.

Free, confidential phone calls on venereal disease

By MARY RICHARDS
Illinois Department of Public Health

Many people do not like to talk about venereal diseases, but in Downstate Illinois last year, an estimated half-a-million people were victims of sexually-transmitted diseases. And most of them were under 25 years of age.

One of the reasons for the large number of VD cases is that many people do not know enough about the disease.

The reluctance of parents, teachers and other adults to talk with young people about VD results in an astonishing lack of knowledge in the age group most affected.

This lack of knowledge can lead to serious consequences. Left untreated, syphilis can cause blindness, paralysis, heart disease, and even death. When not treated early, gonorrhea can cause sterility, arthritis or heart trouble.

In a woman, severe and permanent damage can occur when gonorrhea spreads to her womb.

It can cause infection that may destroy or clog the tubes leading to the ovaries, causing sterility or abnormal pregnancy.

Even if the gonorrhea is cured, she is more likely to experience repeat attacks of pelvic inflammation.

Syphilis and gonorrhea are caused by bacteria and can be treated with antibiotics. But any bodily damage that has occurred before treatment is permanent damage — so it is important to know the symptoms of these diseases, and get treatment quickly.

The first sign of syphilis will probably be a sore which develops anywhere from 10 to 90 days after infection.

This sore, called a chancre (shank-er), may look like a pimple, a blister or an open sore. The sore is generally painless, but it is filled with syphilitic germs. In this stage, the disease is very contagious.

Within a relatively short time, the sore will disappear. Many people believe this means the disease has cured itself, but this is not true. Actually, the germs are multiplying and spreading throughout the body.

Usually, about three to six weeks after the first sore, a rash may appear on the body. It may be accompanied by a slight fever, sore throat, headache, patches of falling hair and nausea. At this time, the disease is still highly contagious.

Gonorrhea infection produces different symptoms in human beings. Many people, especially women, experience no symptoms at all until the disease is in the advanced stages.

When signs of gonorrhea do appear, they usually show within three to five days after exposure to an infected person.

In males, a yellow-white discharge from the urethra appears, usually two to nine days or later after an infecting exposure.

Seeking medical attention as soon as you know or suspect that you have been infected is essential to preventing serious and permanent complications.

If you have any questions about VD — or where to go for free treatment — call the state health department's toll-free number, 800-252-8989, between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Your call will be confidential. You will not even be asked to give your name. Spanish-speaking counselors also are available through the toll-free number.

The Second Baptist Church, 2100 Illinois Ave., was the scene of the wedding on May 23 of Miss Donna Jean Richards, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Richards, 16 Blue Spruce Court, and Gary Lee Burnett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Earnest Burnett, 2229 Dewey Ave.

Cindy Dahm sang, "You Decorated My Life," "We've Only Just Begun," and "The Lord's Prayer," preceding the service.

The couple repeated their vows in the presence of the Rev. Carl Watkins who performed a double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Richards wore a full length white A-line organza over taffeta gown complemented with a mantilla style veil edged in Chantilly lace.

Her gown was fashioned with a fitted bodice, Queen Anne neckline enhanced with seed pearls, and long bishop sleeves.

The semi pleated skirt featured an embroidered Alencon lace flounce at the hemline, and she held a bouquet of pink silk Sweetheart roses, white daisies, and baby's breath tied with lace streamers.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Kathy McGuire, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids included Miss Kelly Richards, another sister of the bride, and Mrs. Patti Justice, the groom's sister.

They selected formal length pink lace over taffeta dresses designed with blouson bodices with scoop necklines and self ties at the natural waistlines and flared skirts.

Their nosegay bouquets were of pink silk daisies, white Sweetheart roses and baby's breath festooned with pink lace streamers.

Amy and Matthew McGuire, a niece and nephew of the bride, served as flower girl and ringbearer.

She was dressed in a long white lace frock featuring a ruffle at the round neckline, fitted bodice, and short puff sleeves.

A satin ribbon marked the waistline and a gathered flounce encircled the full skirt. She carried a basket of pink and white silk daisies.

Rick Justice was the best man and Tom LeMaster and Steve Dodd were groomsmen.

Escorting the guests to their seats were Bobby LeMaster and Dale McGuire.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Richards selected a formal created in mauve polyester featuring an empire waist, pleated skirt and chiffon capelet.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Burnett appeared in a long mint green polyester gown designed with a scoop neckline accented with Venice lace trim, complemented with a matching chiffon capelet. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was hosted at the VFW Hall. The rehearsal dinner was held at Ravanelli's Restaurant.

For her wedding, the bride chose a formal white lace gown accented with seed pearl appliques on the bodice, a Queen Anne neckline, and long lace sleeves.

A gathered flounce encircled the softly flowing skirt and chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was edged with a wide band of lace and was secured to a chapel cap.

She carried a bouquet of silk roses in burgundy and pink hues, carnations and baby's breath.

Karen Downs served as maid of honor and the bridesmaids included Barbara Spink, Tammy McCamish and Emily Johnson, a sister of the bride.

roses and mauve lilacs. Bridesmaid Lynn Van Horn, 2007 Sunset Drive, became the bride of Robert A. Steen, son of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Steen, 23 Longbow Court, Overland, Mo., on May 2 at Bethel Evangelical Free Church.

Presiding the ceremony Sheila Acunius presided at the organ and accompanied Lanny Dawson, as he sang, "The Lord's Prayer," "The Wedding Song," and "Savior Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore a long ivory polyester knit gown created with a molded bodice accented with lace motifs, lace cap sleeves and an oval neckline.

The accoutrements skirt fell softly from the high rise waistline into a chapel train, which was edged with tiny lace flowers.

Her fingertip veil of bridal illusion was also edged with floral lace and held in place by a halo headpiece. She carried a cascade of silk ivory and pink roses tied with pink lace streamers.

Miss Delora L. Cox, a sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Denise J. Rosene, another sister of the bride, and Miss Kellie A. Steen, the groom's sister.

The attendants selected pink knit gowns with white chignon caps.

Each held a basket of silk flowers in ivory and pink hues intermingled with baby's breath.

Michele Dawn Minnick and Donald James Harris, a niece and nephew of the bride, served as flower girl and ringbearer.

She was dressed in a pink lace frock accented with a pink satin sash. She also carried a basket of ivory and pink rose petals.

Fred Bryant attended the groom as best man. Kevin Steen, a brother of the groom, Bill Widlin, Lanny Dawson and Mark Myers, completed the corps of groomsmen and ushers.

William Hazlitt writes about going on a journey: "The soul of a journey is liberty, perfect liberty, to think, feel, do just as one pleases." And of shorter walks, he writes: "Give me a clear blue sky over my head, and the green turf beneath my feet, and winding road before me, and a three hour march to dinner — and then to thinking!" For Hazlitt, walking was the same as philosophizing and each activity made the other that much better.

Today society delves into areas that were previously ignored until the inevitable moment of truth occurred. The change in society has come to the point where many people are desirous of preplanned interment plans to relieve others from difficult decisions at moments of emotional stress. At MERCER, THOMAS and SEDLACK MORTUARIES we are available to answer your questions and assist you with such planning. If you are concerned with such matters, call us so that we may provide the information that will allow you to pursue the course of action you desire.

Court order delays demolition of old jail

Disagreeing with 1,300 petition signatures by preservationists, the Madison County Board voted 16-8 Wednesday to demolish the former county jail and sheriff residence.

But Associate Judge Jonathan Isbell less than two hours later issued a temporary injunction, preventing razing of the structure for at least a month—until arguments are heard in a lawsuit.

The suit was filed in April by the Goshen Preservation Alliance, a non-profit group that hopes to remodel and perpetuate the building indefinitely. It calls the former jail a landmark and notes that it is registered nationally as a historic site.

Edwardsville has not given its permission to tear down the building.

The City Council's next meeting is June 30. In September, it urged the county to lease the old jail to the Alliance for renovation.

The building is located across Main Street a short distance from the County Courthouse.

At Wednesday's County Board session, members commented that a park-like area is to be created, and that the site would be one of those considered for possible construction of a county government administrative building.

The issue had been hotly debated at some past meetings, but there was little discussion Wednesday as the board awarded a $31,722 demolition contract, effective for a 45-day period, to Kamadinski Excavating and Grading, Inc., of Granite City. It was the lowest of nine bids that ranged up to $78,000.

A discussion brought out that 12 inches of gravel were to be placed atop dirt after the jail structure had been torn down.

A front lawn area would remain as it is, along with an existing wrought-iron fence. Benches would be installed and several trees would be planted.

Quadtians on the County Board generally supported the demolition. Daniel Partney voted "no."

Louis Whitell was not present at the meeting. The Ralph Korte company, a construction and architectural firm, was hired for approximately $12,500, not to exceed $15,000, to analyze and develop recommendations on county governmental office space needs.

Fred Dalton said he would have preferred competitive bidding and also a company devoted solely to architectural work. He urged that the county begin putting funds aside to construct an administrative building.

Charles Bode said this and other comments will be welcomed, but he successfully urged that space planning be conducted now by the Korte firm.

Bode said the community development, civil defense and county highway agencies already have indicated they might be able to contribute financially toward the provision of needed office space.

It was decided to purchase radio equipment for the new Madison County jail at an estimated cost of $74,000 and to begin housing federal prisoners there, with the U.S. reimbursing the county for the specific costs, estimated at $40 a day.

Bids will be sought for installation of an exercise yard at the new jail.

Tornado aid still possible

Retroactive assistance still may be available in the form of Small Business Administration loans to those having suffered losses from the April 3 tornado, if local victims will complete and return a questionnaire by Friday, June 26.

The special forms were hand delivered June 6 and June 7 to all but five of 102 residences in Granite City which were demolished or sustained damage in the early April tornado.

The remaining five forms were mailed to forwarding addresses June 9, according to Victor H. Koenig, coordinator of Granite City Emergency Services Disaster Agency (Civil Defense).

Ed Harris, Madison County ESDA coordinator, and Koenig said the information requested on the forms is necessary to submit an appeal to the SBA seeking reconsideration of the denial of SBA loans to people in Granite City and Edwardsville for losses incurred from the tornado.

Documented evidence is needed not only from persons who were without insurance or had insufficient to adequately cover losses, but from homeowners who were insured or have secured private loans, Koenig stressed.

Many persons still are uncertain as to the extent of their insurance protection, it was noted. If an appeal is granted retroactive assistance would be provided to those who have been forced to secure private loans, he said.

Despite requests for immediate return of the completed forms, only 26 of the total number delivered have been received so far, the local Civil Defense office, it was learned this week.

Only six replies have been received from the occupants of 13 homes which were considered totally demolished.

Anyone who has misplaced the form may obtain a duplicate at the Granite City Civil Defense Office on the lower floor of Granite City Police Headquarters, 2330 Madison Ave., on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m. and Monday and Friday from 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., or call 877-3157 during the same hours and the information may be taken over the telephone.

4-H'ers win food honors at county demonstrations

Thirteen Madison County 4-H'ers participated in the annual Food Demonstration Contest held last week at St. John's United Methodist Church in Edwardsville. Selected for State Fair competition in August were: Cathy Urprung, Liberty Bellies 4-H club, demonstrating "Beef Stroganoff"; Susan Perry, Magic Clovers 4-H club, demonstrating "Pork the Chinese Way"; George Turner, Magic Clovers 4-H club, was selected as first alternate to State Fair for his demonstration on, "4-H Teens Entertain: Chili."

Contestants were judged on the basis of preparation skills, the ability to simultaneously explain and demonstrate the procedure to an audience interest and appearance of final product; accuracy of knowledge, including nutritional information about the food being demonstrated; and their overall poise, grooming, and grammar throughout the 10 minute demonstration.

In the beginners group, ages 8 to 11, blue ribbons were awarded to Michele Muentnich, Busy Beavers and Stephanie Knecht, Junior Homemakers. Receiving red ribbons were: Megan Slack, Liberty Live Wires; Jennifer Lewis, Teens and Tweens; Doug Pinckney, Magic Clovers; and Julie Wilson, Fosterburg. One 4-H'er from this group will receive an award from the Foley Manufacturing Company at the 4-H annual Achievement Night in the fall.

Blue ribbon winners in the advanced group (age 12-19) were: Tracy Nelson, 58'ers; Cathy Urprung, Liberty Bellies; George Turner and Susan Perry, Magic Clovers; Amy Knollman a Shannon Kennerly, 58'ers. Knollman and Kennerly did a team demonstration on pudding cake.

Arla Ault, chairman of the Madison County 4-H Foods Committee, served as kitchen superintendent and was assisted by Karen Geiger of Alhambra, 4-H Federation president, and Barb Geiger, also of Alhambra. Maxine Dann, University of Illinois Extension Adviser from Randolph County, served as judge.

Food demonstrations are one of hundreds of activity areas in which Madison County 4-H'ers have opportunity to develop both technical and leadership skills. Persons interested in learning more about the 4-H program in Madison County may call 656-8400 or visit the University Extension office, 900 Hillsboro Ave., Edwardsville.

County Employees union defeats Teamsters by 2-1

By JUDY TAPLIN
A bid by the Teamsters for representation of approximately 440 Madison County employees was defeated by a solid 2-1 margin Tuesday in an election held at the courthouse.

Of the 342 voting, 225 chose to stay with AFSCME (the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees), the union that has been representing the employees.

The Teamsters received 112 votes. A third choice on the ballot—to have no union at all—received five votes. The election ends a dispute which started last fall when the Teamsters sought to represent employees in the detention and adult probation departments.

These employees were not AFSCME employees, but were bargained for by Local 799 of AFSCME.

Herbert Milton of Granite City, chairman of the County Board's negotiating committee, said Tuesday night that he believes contract negotiations with AFSCME—negotiations which were halted last year by an injunction sought by the Teamsters—will be resumed very soon.

"We're ready whenever they are," Milton said. Because of the union dispute, AFSCME employees have been working without a contract since Nov. 30.

Joanna Watson, president of AFSCME, who had expressed confidence all along that her union would win the election, was glad that the long struggle was over. "I think a majority of our members were with us and stayed with us," she told a reporter Wednesday morning.

She said the union has prepared a letter asking the county to resume negotiations.

Bill Brandt, attorney for the Teamsters, noted Tuesday night that approximately 100 of the affected employees did not vote in the election. He said the Teamsters had obtained more than 200 signature cards—close to AFSCME's winning tally in the election.

Under terms of the county's new labor policy, the Teamsters cannot try again for two years to win bargaining rights for the employees.

Brandt was asked if the Teamsters are likely to challenge AFSCME again at the end of that time period. "I think it depends on the type of job AFSCME does for the employees," he answered.

"When this whole thing started, we weren't trying to usurp from AFSCME, but a significant number of employees wanted a bargaining agent," he commented.

Brandt said he assumes these employees will not have the choice of joining AFSCME Local 799 or of not without a contract since Nov. 30.

Mrs. King hosts Thorngate Club

A demonstration on the art of dying flower petals, adding oils and preservatives to prepare potpourri was presented by Mrs. Betty King for members of Thorngate Garden Club at the June meeting.

She prepared two types of potpourri, one with spices and the other with roses and explained the method of preparing pomander. Each member received materials to create a sachet to take home as a memento of the program.

The group met in the home of Mrs. King for a 1 p.m. luncheon and business meeting conducted by President Mrs. Enid Bolen. Chaplain Clara Schilling offered the opening prayer.

Miss Jean Bethal gave a reading on "June" by James Russell Lowell.

Reports were submitted by Helen Polly, treasurer, and Beula Miller, sunshine chairman, who also collected birthday donations from June Lux, June Markham and Mrs. King. They observed birthdays this month.

Mrs. Lux read an article by Craig Clayborn relating to herb tea and told how to process rose hips for jelly.

Plans were finalized for a rummage sale to be held in the home of Mrs. Bethal, 2254 Edison Ave., on June 25 and 26th.

Others attending were Mrs. Lillian Delp and Mrs. Patricia Polley. Mrs. Polley will host a swim party and pot luck to be held at her home, 825 Thorngate Drive, for the July meeting.

Central Baptist Bible School set

Bible School will begin on Monday, June 22, and continue through Friday, June 26, at Central Baptist Church, 3910 Highway 111, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon each day, according to the pastor, the Rev. Wayne Musatics.

Pastor Musatics will direct the program and said the session is open to those in kindergarten through the eighth grade.

Special Bible school characters will be featured including Fee Wee, a little chubby character who becomes confused when giving his name.

Crafts, fun and treats will also be part of the school and a Bible lesson from the book of Joshua will be taught each day along with Bible memory exercises.

Buses will follow their usual run and those who are in need of transportation are advised to call the church at 931-0964, the minister added.

Methodist Women plan projects

The United Methodist Women of Namecki United Methodist Church met last week and finalized plans for a retreat to take place Sept. 11-12 at Our Lady of the Snows Shrine.

Mrs. Norma Jean Warner will be the featured speaker, it was announced.

Members of the Lydia Day Circle presented the program and Mary Bailey, circle leader, showed film on "The Second Spring of Samantha Muffin."

Mrs. Gladys Russell led the group in a quiz and offered the closing prayer, followed by Mrs. Dorothy Wallace reading a poem entitled, "Our Secret."

Vice President Dorothy Luckert presided at the business segment. She announced the School of Christian Missions will be conducted at McKendree College in Lebanon on June 14 to 17.

Mrs. Luckert also announced the next meeting will be held in September. A scripture lesson for the Ladies Fellowship was presented by Mrs. Luan Briner. Mrs. Helene Bischof distributed birthday cards to be sent to the missionaries in this country.

Others attending were Mesdames Alma Jean Cowen, Mildred Hess, Alta Stewart, Marie Long, Betty Weston, Virginia Carroll, Dorothy Wallace.

Refreshments were served after the meeting at tables decorated with strawberry centerpieces and red candles.

Disaster preparedness urged for summer heat here

A study by the Lutheran Medical Center shows 93 residents of this metropolitan area were pronounced dead upon arrival at hospitals, and 29 more died during hospitalization. Two hundred twenty-nine others survived but required hospitalization.

An epidemic? Yes, it was the epidemic of heat that gripped our area throughout July 1980.

Primary victims of heat stroke and heat-related illnesses are the elderly and the poor, but everyone is susceptible. The Center is pointing this out in urging preparedness for the next stages of unusual weather—including increased public awareness of ways to minimize the impact of mid-America's sizzling summers.

Killer heat waves occur periodically. And during the heat waves of 1953-55 and 1966, the rates of heat-related mortality in this part of the nation were the highest in the U.S.

Factors included the magnitude of sustained departure from normal temperatures—the mercury went up significantly from the average and then stayed there.

The St. Louis area recorded 12 days in July 1980 on which the peak was 100 degrees or more, and all-time records were set on four of those days. Humidity also contributes to the oppressiveness of heat in this region, as Quad-City residents are well aware.

Studies show that temperatures are higher in cities than in suburbs or rural areas, due to a "heat island" effect. Concentrations of motor vehicles and businesses, lower wind velocities, and increased retention of solar heat by masonry and concrete buildings combine to generate greater heat and increase the potential for heat stress in urban settings.

Dr. George Wetach, medical director of Emergency Medical Services in St. Louis, asserts that "prevention could cut a heat wave's death rate to zero. The average person in each community can do things to help prevent the death of a neighbor, relative or friend."

The key is to "arm yourself with information," the Lutheran Center says. A brochure it has written points out that "heat stroke may develop during any period of hot weather—it does not have to be a record-setting." Its advice:

HEAT CRAMPS—Muscle cramps, characterized by painful spasms of the voluntary muscles, usually occur after excessive sweating and after strenuous exercise.

The temperature outside need not be hotter than the body temperature, 98.6 degrees, nor is direct exposure to the sun required for this condition to occur.

Occasionally, the cramps involve the abdominal muscles, but normally the arms and legs bear the brunt of physical activity and show the highest incidence of cramps.

The recommendations are to avoid excessive strenuous activity, drink plenty of fluids, and maintain your normal sodium chloride (salt) intake.

HEAT EXHAUSTION—This is also known as heat prostration or heat collapse, and is the most common heat disorder. It results from salt depletion and from dehydration brought about by exposure to very high temperatures.

Heat exhaustion occurs in both physically active and non-active persons. The onset is usually sudden, and the duration of the collapse is brief.

Symptoms are weakness, dizziness, stupor and headache. The individual may or may not experience muscle cramps. A person suffering from heat exhaustion will have cool, pale skin and will perspire profusely. The heartbeat will be rapid and the blood pressure low.

Mental confusion and lack of muscular coordination may occur. The person may also be hyperventilating.

Initial treatment would consist of placing the individual in a cool area, while keeping him or her horizontal. Then, elevate the feet and massage the legs.

Someone with heat exhaustion could go into shock, and a physician should be consulted.

HEAT STROKE—Sweating is the most effective natural means of combating heat stress. As long as sweating continues, the body's internal temperature will remain normal, provided that water and salt—the most important physiologic components of perspiration—are replaced.

Heat stroke is a medical emergency characterized by sudden loss of consciousness, high body temperature, and dry skin; the body has stopped sweating.

Epidemics of such strokes in metropolitan areas during heat waves have killed hundreds and contributed to the deaths of thousands of ill persons in recent decades.

Those who suffer heat stroke usually are exposed to hot work environments or have participated in strenuous physical exertion. Cyclists, football players and long distance runners are particularly at risk. Some victims have been confined in hot, poorly ventilated areas.

Many with heat stroke have temperatures of 104. This extreme body heat may cause widespread damage to one's body tissues.

Early symptoms of heat stroke include headache, dizziness, nausea, diarrhea, confusion, convulsions, and loss of consciousness.

The skin is hot, flushed and usually dry. The heartbeat is strong and rapid. Hair on the upper chest and arms may stand erect.

As a first-aid measure, place the victim in a shady, cool place and remove most of the clothing. Sprinkle the entire body with water, or dab the skin generously with rubbing alcohol, and cool by fanning. Professional medical assistance should be summoned immediately.

Packing ice around the victim, or covering the patient with cool wet towels under a fan, will help to lower the body temperature. But continued temperature monitoring is required, and the temperature should not be lowered too quickly.

Patients with heat stroke should avoid immediate re-exposure to heat. They may remain extra sensitive to high temperatures for a considerable time.

Heat stroke may develop during any stage of hot weather, but the incidence in temperate climates rises during prolonged heat waves and at temperatures of 90 degrees with humidity in the range of 60 to 75 percent.

The human body is usually able to acclimate after eight to 10 days of exposure to high temperatures.

But even a fully acclimated person may suffer a heat disorder in the event of excessive fatigue, severe infection, alcohol intoxication, use of belladonna-like drugs (such as atropine, which is used to stimulate the heart), or failure to maintain the proper level of fluid, salt or caloric intake.

Authorities advise:

- Avoid unnecessary exposure to heat.
- Drink plenty of fluids (sodas and fruit juices contain sodium).
- Eat normally and maintain good nutrition.
- Wear clothing that is loose fitting (preferably white) and permeable to moisture, in order to help let your body "breathe."
- Avoid alcoholic indulgence and unusual fatigue.
- Increase activity slowly, until acclimated.

Social Security still going broke

To the Editor:
To House Speaker Tip O'Neill, it was "despicable... a rotten thing to do." The Brookings Institution, a bastion of liberal economics, said it "gives rise to the idea of a social safety net." Claude Pepper (D-Fla.) called it "insidious and cruel."

"It is something few politicians in Washington today want to touch with a ten foot pole — President Reagan's plan to save the Social Security system from bankruptcy."

The Administration's announcement that it wanted to perform some surgery on the most sacred of all federal cows generated, according to one Republican, "the fiercest public protest on any issue I have faced since coming to Congress."

The uproar has sent Congressmen scurrying for cover.

But sooner or later — and he had better be sooner — the Congress will have to come out of hiding and make some changes in the Social Security system.

In the words of Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker, the failure of Congress to act means "the system would go broke as early as fall 1982."

Most members of Congress agree that something must be done to shore up the Social Security trust fund, which is projected to be at least $111 billion in the red by 1987. But ask them what should be done, and that's where the agreement ends.

They might start by asking themselves how we got into this mess in the first place. Very simply, it was Congress that put us there through a few good intentions and a lot of political expediency.

Social Security was established in 1935 to provide a supplemental income for retirees when they reached the age of 65. Since then, a succession of Congresses added to the system a number of costly additional programs such as Medicare, unemployment insurance, early retirement benefits, cost-of-living adjustments and others.

No wonder that today's $11 billion yearly price tag for Social Security cash benefits will swell to at least $200 billion by 1984 and $500 billion by 1989.

And with low birthrates and ever-increasing numbers of Americans entering the ranks of the elderly, the system's financial health will be further jeopardized by a steadily decreasing ratio of beneficiaries to contributors.

All of this adds up to one heck of a problem, a problem which Congress, in the past, has had only one answer — raise taxes.

American workers and businesses, who split the Social Security payroll tax 50-50, are still reeling from one of the largest tax increases in history (up to 24 percent for some payees) which took effect this year.

Under the terms of legislation passed by Congress in 1975, the law will continue their steep climb right through 1987.

Can our free enterprise economy, already buckling under the weight of prohibitive taxation of its every activity, withstand even greater Social Security taxes? The answer is obvious.

We have only one alternative. Congress is going to have to demonstrate the same kind of political courage that it was finally able to muster when it passed President Reagan's budget.

A number of changes in various Social Security benefits programs, however politically unpopular, may be in the short run, can no longer be avoided.

These changes should include elimination of benefits for college students and some curtailment of cost-of-living adjustments.

Also, it's about time that 5.5 million federal, state and local employees who do not presently contribute to Social Security's coffers in the first year

Finally, Congress should pass Mr. Reagan's proposal to allow American workers the right to establish tax-exempt individual retirement accounts, so that they can better provide for their own retirement — and let Social Security reassume its original role as a supplement to private sources of retirement income.

According to the latest NBC News-Associated Press survey, 79 percent of the American people have little or no confidence that they will actually receive the retirement benefits which will be due to them upon retirement.

To millions of American workers, then, Social Security has become social insecurity.

That's the sorry legacy of the inability of Congress thus far to demonstrate the fiscal restraint and political courage necessary to keep Social Security on sound financial footing.

It is in the interest of every worker, retiree and business in America to convince Congress to join President Reagan now in a bipartisan effort to forge a Social Security reform plan which will restore the system's solvency to the system, continue to provide a floor of income support for our nation's elderly citizens and hold the line on additional payroll tax increases.

Differences with Melton are 'philosophical'

To the Editor:
Much has been said about Wayne Melton and his bid to be appointed to the school board. Several statements insinuate something "wrong" was done by Mr. Melton by their government pay will be required to do so. This change alone would bring over $15 billion from Social Security's coffers in the first year.

Police cars may be bought from state

By LISA LUTZ
of the Press-Record
Bids for two new Venice police cars were opened at the Venice City Council meeting Tuesday night, but none were accepted. Two bids were submitted, but only one of those bids met the specifications.

The bids call for "police purpose" cars, equipped for police business. A bid for two 1981 Dodge Diplomats, at a cost of $12,530, did meet the specifications. The other bid for two 1981 Chevrolet Impalas costing $15,124 was rejected as it did not comply with the specifications.

Council members unanimously passed a resolution which will enable them to enter into a joint purchasing agreement with the state. This gives the council authority to purchase vehicles, such as cars, from the state, if the bids submitted are not acceptable.

This option will be explored, it was indicated, since the state buys in volume and the police cars may be less expensive through this channel.

A state appropriation bill, which will be placed before the House Appropriations Committee, proposes to disburse some of this year's appropriations which would affect Venice, the council members learned.

They were urged through a letter from the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission (SIMARPC) to contact state representatives and make their opposition to this bill known.

SIMARPC also sent letters to the other areas which they service which would be affected by the cuts.

"Let representatives hear your voice," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols told the council members. Council members indicated they would contact the appropriate representatives.

Former resident wins contest at Virginia College

Kenneth Wayne Blackburn, son of Army Sergeant-Major and Mrs. Clarence E. Blackburn, former local residents, was the winner of an essay contest in competition with his peers at Prince George High School, Va. The contest is sponsored annually by the Lion's Club for seniors who have an interest in writing.

The contest is a memorial tribute to an alumnae of the school. Blackburn was presented with his prize, a check for $250 during an awards ceremony at the school last week, two days prior to his graduation. He will also be honored this week at a dinner given by the Lion's Club. The topic of the essay was "The Involvement of Our Country in Human Rights at Home and Abroad."

Blackburn is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Jackson, 1538 Second St., Madison. He will leave in August for a four-year tour of duty with the U.S. Army, and plans to pursue a career in journalism.

He has had previous experience as a member of the school newspaper staffs and as a contributing editor, for which he won certificates of commendation. SGM and Mrs. Blackburn are also the parents of three daughters.

Revise estate and gift tax laws

To the Editor:
I am introducing, along with my senior colleague from Illinois, Senator Percy, the Transfer Tax Reform Act of 1981.

Identical legislation is being introduced in the House of Representatives by a member of the Illinois Congressional delegation, Cong. Madigan.

The legislation is designed to bring our badly antiquated estate and gift tax laws up to date.

Due to inflation and other factors, the estate tax has become an unbearable burden for many, particularly for American farmers and small businessmen. The law needs to be reformed.

The estate laws no longer just prevent the excessive accumulation of wealth. They now act to make it virtually impossible to preserve family farms and family-operated small businesses.

Present estate law, by excessively taxing the transfer of an estate from one generation to the next, acts to force the sale of small farms and businesses to large farms or corporations.

American agricultural policy has long had as a basic tenet the support and maintenance of the family farm, but our estate taxes actually operate to subvert this objective.

The increasingly heavy estate tax burden forces sales that turn farmland into shopping centers or into large corporate farms. American agriculture and the American public are the losers.

The legislation we are introducing is similar in many respects to S. 395, The Family Enterprise and Gift Tax Equity Act introduced by Senator Wallop. I am a cosponsor of that bill.

However, there are some differences between this bill and S. 395. I am introducing it in order to give the Senate additional options to consider as it works to make needed changes in the estate and gift tax areas.

This bill is the result of extensive research and work by the Illinois Bar Association.

In this area will reflect the Bar's efforts, and will be better because of them.

First, the unified credit against federal estate and gift tax is being increased. The unified credit equivalent amount is increased from the present $50,000 to $100,000.

Second, the federal gift tax annual exclusion is increased from the present level of $3,000 to $10,000.

Third, the requirement that gifts included in the gross estate because they are made within three years of death be re-valued as of the date of death is eliminated.

Fourth, the use of the unified credit against gift tax is made elective rather than mandatory.

The bill provides that by electing to pay gift tax, the taxpayer can obtain a binding determination of the value of the gift for all transfer tax purposes after the three-year statute of limitations on the gift tax return has expired.

Fifth, special use valuation rules applicable to farms and certain closely held business real estate are made elective so that farmers can make their utilization much more equitable and also simpler for both the government and the taxpayer.

This provision is of particular importance to Illinois because Illinois and Iowa have made almost half of the special use valuation elections in the entire nation since 1976.

Sixth, the installment payment of state tax rules is simplified and coordinated with the Federal Internal Revenue Code.

Discrimination against sole proprietorships in the utilization of these rules is substantially eliminated and the percentage requirements for eight-year reduced rates are reduced.

The acceleration of payment provisions are also made somewhat less harsh.

Finally, the disclaimer statute is completely revised to permit disclaimers in more situations than the present law currently being made by the Treasury Department permits.

It is imperative to make the needed reforms in the estate and gift tax law without this bill known.

SIMARPC also sent letters to the other areas which they service which would be affected by the cuts.

"Let representatives hear your voice," Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols told the council members. Council members indicated they would contact the appropriate representatives.

Skilled, cheerful, dedicated care

To the Editor:
A few words of praise for the St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

My brother, William Clifton, entered the hospital on Sept. 22, 1980. He was a patient in the Intensive Care Unit, fifth and fifth floors, for approximately six weeks.

Since his release, he has received respiratory therapy daily, on an outpatient basis, until about mid-April, and on a twice-weekly basis since that time.

I was a patient on the fifth and sixth floors on two different occasions, of one week each, during May.

Accordingly, our family has been in a position to observe the employees on an almost continual basis since September.

It is our opinion that the nursing care provided cannot be excelled.

The registered nurses, the respiratory therapists, the licensed practical nurses and the aides are certainly dedicated and caring. They go far beyond the call of duty — not only to provide excellent care, but also to encourage the patient and the family.

Not once was anyone too busy to answer our never-ending questions.

It would be remiss if I did not include Michael Range, in charge of the respiratory therapy program, and Rick Barger.

But again, everyone with whom we have come in contact, and over such a long period of time — this includes also the emergency room personnel, and the security and housekeeping staffs — have all been helpful, caring and cheerful, in addition to the excellent nursing care that is provided.

The Gardenaires Garden Club would like to thank you for the recent coverage you gave us on our "Clean Streams—Clean Water" conservation program.

We appreciate your cooperation in our effort to make "clean water" a matter of public knowledge. We would urge other groups to take advantage of this fine learning experience.

Our sincere appreciation to all of them. The Tri-City area is fortunate, indeed, to have a facility such as the St. Elizabeth Medical Center in our area.

Triples' bats blast East Alton, 7-2

By PETE HAYES
Sports Editor
of the Press-Record
EAST ALTON — Granite City's Tri-City American Legion baseball team solidified its hold on first place in the North Division of District 22 here last night with an easy 7-2 victory over East Alton.

The victory raised Tri-City's league record to 6-0 (2-2 overall). East Alton fell to 0-6 in the league. It was Tri-City's second victory of the season over East Alton.

Despite East Alton's winless record, Tri-City manager Eldon Warfield said he was glad to be finished with them. "They're going to win some games," he said. "They're struggling right now, but they'll beat some people. At least we know they won't beat us. I have a feeling their problem is that they think they're beat before the game starts. They have some talent. They just have to get some confidence."

Confidence Tri-City oozes with it. Take the first inning, for instance. Leadoff man Kevin Sykes and second batter Jim Vrenick reached base. It was second and third base with nobody out. But the Triples didn't score. They weren't worried.

Then in the third inning, the flood gates opened, the plate and scored all seven of the runs they needed. "After that, I did some experimenting," said Warfield. "I knew (Keith) Burton wouldn't give up seven runs to them. I don't think he'd give up seven runs to anybody."

He didn't. Burton, even though he wasn't in his best form, still was hard enough for the East Alton batters to solve. He got the win with relief help from Jodi Fenton in the last two innings.

"Keith wasn't on tonight," said Warfield. "But he was working pretty hard. He was good enough."

Tri-City's victory leaves it a full game ahead of Collinsville and Alton, which are tied for second, in the North Division. The Triples will face Belleville tonight (Thursday).

In that big third inning for the East Alton batters to solve. He got the win with relief help from Jodi Fenton in the last two innings.

Second baseman Dan Patterson lofted a sacrifice fly that scored Sykes from third. Then centerfielder Bob Ford blasted a double to deep left centerfield that sent Vrenick to third base. It was only starting.

Rich Cope hit a single to right that scored both Ford and Vrenick. Cope went to third on a single by Rick Daily. Then Triples catcher Daren DePew smashed a grounder to the East Alton shortstop, who flipped to second base, forcing out Daily. But Cope came in to score on the play.

With two out, DePew stole second base, and went to third when the fourth ball to batter John Linhart was a wild pitch by LeVan. He was first baseman John Schoenke reached on an error by the third baseman, which allowed DePew to score.

Butting for the second time in the inning, Sykes singled, scoring Linhart. Vrenick then walked to load the bases. A walk to Patterson forced in Tri-City's final run of the inning — and the game.

"That was all we needed," said Warfield. "That's one reason I put the other guys into the game. I needed to see some other kids. I felt pretty good about this one."

East Alton scored its two runs in the bottom of the fourth inning on a walk, a double, a single and a fielder's choice.

"They (East Alton) have the potential to have a nice little ball club," said Warfield. "But that's the problem. They don't have a lot of size and they're young. But we're in that position a couple years ago, too. Their starting pitcher wasn't really too bad."

LeVan, a sophomore, had the Tri-City batters a little perplexed the first time through the batting order. "He was working pretty fast," said Warfield. "We told our guys to step out on him every now and then to slow him down."

TRIPLES' NOTES:
Following tonight's home game against Belleville at home, Tri-City will go on the road to Indiana for four games. The Triples will play a single game in Booneville, Ind. Friday night, a doubleheader at Evansville Saturday and a single game in Mount Vernon, Ind. Sunday. "A trip like this is good for a team," said Warfield. It gives us a chance to see baseball from another area and is a good experience. The Triples will get back into District 22 action Monday at home against South Division leader Waterloo and Tuesday at home against North Division rival Alton.

GC girls two games away

GRANITE CITY — For a group of Granite City Under-19 girls, the next two weeks could be the most exciting of their lives.

The Granite City Soccer Club, and its coach Bob Kurilla, will travel to Dallas next Friday (June 26) for the National Youth Cup Tournament. They're one of only four teams remaining in competition for the cup. And the Granite Cityans feel they're as good as anybody.

They're probably right. Granite City earned its way to the finals by winning the Midwest Region II championship in Alton last week.

Granite City's first opponent (Saturday afternoon) will be the D'Feters from

Soccer Club to Dallas

Dallas. And the Illinoisans have defeated several teams which have beaten the Texas girls.

"We feel pretty confident," said Kurilla. "We're expecting a lot of tough, physical soccer down there. And we're ready. We're used to that kind of soccer around here."

The Soccer Club has compiled an impressive 32-3-4 record against the best soccer competition available. Included among their victories is the championship of the Big Red Classic in Bloomington, Ind. The Granite Cityans were the only high school team in the tournament. The rest were all college teams.

"We know we're young," said Kurilla. "In fact, many of our girls could be playing Under-16 soccer this year. But there's a lot of skill on this team."

The skill on the Soccer Club could be hereditary. Some of the names on the team include Burnett, Kessler, James and Schuler. "The girls have strong soccer traditions in their families," said Kurilla. "They've followed their brothers in high school and they're out to show what they can do now."

Kurilla has coached both boys and girls teams. Are there any differences in their heads. It's the same as the boys in that respect. They can think the game the same."

Helping Kurilla coach the Soccer Club are two former players from Granite City: South High, Phil Beljanski (now at Washington University) and David James (now at Illinois State University). "They've been a lot of help," said Kurilla. "They get up and run with the girls at 6 o'clock every morning. They run through some drills with them. Phil's helping mainly in the conditioning and dead-ball situations and Dave is working with goalies and drills."

Players on the team are: Sue Bell, Jill Bledsoe, Sue Burnett, Deb Burnett, Deanna Epps, Dee Dee Darbrow, Terry Schuler, Denise Goode, Carolyn Horbel, Chris Kessler, Michelle Loftus, Susan Schneke, Nancy Jones and Laura James.

"They're a dedicated bunch of girls," said Kurilla. "They get up and run and practice at six every morning. They don't complain. They want it."

"I think our chances in Dallas are as good as anybody's," Kurilla said of his Region II championship squad. "At this level, a lot of it depends on the breaks. I think our first game will be our toughest."

The Soccer Club will play two games, win or lose. The other two teams in the Finals will be FRAM from Los Angeles and Mesquapa, N.Y. Granite City will play at 1 p.m. Saturday. That game will be followed at around 3:30 p.m. by the other semifinal game. The third place game, pitting Saturday's two losers against each other, will be played Sunday at 1 p.m. The National Championship game will be at around 3:30 p.m.

Teams set for State Cup

GRANITE CITY — Two Granite City youth soccer teams, one from Alton and two from Collinsville, will travel to the Chicago area to play for the State Youth Cup in their respective age divisions this weekend.

Foreman Brick of Granite City and the Fairmont Park Rowdies from Collinsville will be two of the four finalists in the Under-12 year old division, along with two teams from the Chicago area.

Fairmont Park's Rowdies earned their way to the finals with a 5-2 victory over St. Elizabeth's of Granite City.

Tuesday night in Collinsville. In the Under-16 Division, Mendoza Sporting Goods of Granite City will head into competition, along with the Alton Optimists.

In the Under-14 year old division, Collinsville will be Southern Illinois' only representative.

Each team will play two games in the State Finals, which includes a third place consolation game to precede the championship game.

The tournament will be conducted under the supervision of the Illinois State Youth Soccer Association.

Kirgan sets his goals high

Special to the Press-Record
ST. LOUIS — Bob Kirgan just keeps getting better and better. At least that's what his junior college wrestling coach thinks.

In fact, Meremac Junior College coach Ron Mirikitani thinks Kirgan, a graduate of Granite City North High, can make the 1984 United States Olympic team.

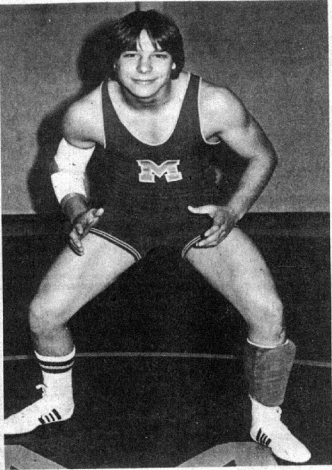

That's Kirgan's ultimate goal. But first things first. His immediate goal is still going to be a tough one to achieve. He wants to win the 1981 Junior Pan-Am Games championship at 136.5 pounds.

Making the United States Pan-Am team was hard enough. Kirgan made it by placing third at the National Junior College Athletic Association (NJCAA) Tournament this past season as a freshman from Meremac. He was named a junior college All-American. He finished the junior college season with an impressive 37-6 record.

Kirgan will take care of things on the wrestling mat. But he's also having to come up with expenses to make the trip to Venezuela for the Junior Pan-Am Games this coming October. In fact, he'll need to ultimately raise around $1,100.

"We'll try to help him out some here at the school," said Mirikitani. "We'll get him down there."

At the Junior Pan-Am Games, Kirgan will face the top wrestlers in his age group from Canada, Mexico, Venezuela, Puerto Rico, Argentina, Ecuador and Brazil. "I think he can win it all," said Mirikitani, who is also an assistant coach at Iowa State. "He's working awfully hard for it. He's a little over his weight now, but he'll be there when the time comes. He's a hard worker."

Kirgan could qualify for the Junior Pan-Am Games in both the Greco-Roman and Freestyle divisions.

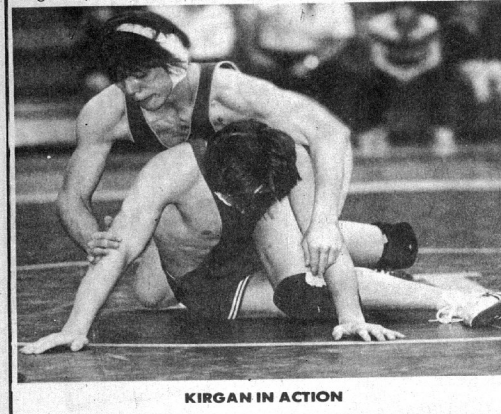

At Meremac, Mirikitani helped Kirgan's cause. "I try to schedule as many tournaments as possible for the guys," he said. "It's tournament-type wrestling that helps them when it comes time for international wrestling. It keeps the interest up and helps us at the national tournament."

Included in Kirgan's victories at Meremac this season were first place finishes at the Highlander Classic in Jacksonville, Ill., against four-year schools, the Crowder Invitational at Southeast Missouri and a second place finish in the prestigious St. Louis Open Tournament.

According to Mirikitani, there are some differences between college wrestling and international. "They have a shorter time limit on periods," he said. "They cut it from 8 or 7 minutes to 6 to make it more exciting and build up the intensity."

"Bob has an excellent chance to win it. He has a good background and had good high school coaching. "Every goal he sets is attainable."

BEST ATTENDANCE
For the second straight year the Illini drew more than half a million fans to their home athletic contests. Illinois had 310,440 onlookers for six home football games, 217,330 for 14 home basketball games and 10,000-plus for their other contests. This year and last season were the only two times in the school's history that more fans showed up for Illinois events.

McGuire Cup Finals are set

Special to the Press-Record
NEW YORK — The attention of American youth soccer will soon focus on two fronts, Omaha, Neb. and Dallas, Texas, when the final rounds of the USSF Boys and Girls National Youth Challenge Cup events are played. The boys event, to be contested by four regional champions June 20-21 in Omaha, will determine the 1981 winner of the McGuire Cup, emblematic of club supremacy at the Under-19 level. The girls (Under-17) national championship will be decided by four regional winners June 27-28 in Dallas. The McGuire Cup, named in honor of the late president of the USSF, James P. McGuire, and played since 1934 except during the war years 1942-44, is the premier event in American youth soccer. With the defending champions, the Fremont (Calif.) Celtics, previously eliminated in intra-state play, a first-time winner will emerge from the Potomac (Md.) Kickers (Region I-East), Scott Gallagher S.C. of St. Louis (Region II-Midwest), Miami (Fla.) Knights (Region III-South) and Saratoga (Calif.) USA (Region IV-West).

The Final Four will be staged at Omaha's All Caniglia Field for the third consecutive year. Hosted by the Nebraska State Soccer Assoc. and co-sponsored by the USSF Youth Division and the Coca-Cola Co., semifinal action will get underway June 20 (4:30 P.M.) with Potomac facing Scott Gallagher, to be followed by the Miami Knights-Saratoga USA contest. The championship match will be played June 21 following completion of the third-place match (4:30 P.M.). The girls competition will also crown a new champion. The Sting (Dallas, Texas) winners of the inaugural girls national championship last year in San Jose, Calif., were ousted in intra-state play earlier. The new champion will come from among the Massapequa (N.Y.) Express (Region I-East), Granite City (Ill.) S.C. (Region II-Midwest), D'Feeters Green S.C. of Dallas (Region III-South) and FRAM S.C. of Palos Verdes, Calif. (Region IV-West).

All matches will be played at Dallas' Franklin Field, the site of preliminary round action in last summer's third CAF (North, Central, America and Caribbean) Youth Championship. Massapequa has drawn opponent FRAM in one June 27 (3:30 P.M.) semifinal, to be preceded by the Granite City-D'Feeters Green encounter at 1:00 P.M. The championship (3:30 P.M.) and third-place matches (1:00 P.M.) will be played June 28. The North Texas State Soccer Assoc. is hosting the girls competition.

YOUTH CUP NOTES:
McGuire Cup tourney organizers are hopeful of surpassing last year's excellent attendance totals. Nearly 7,000 spectators witnessed McGuire Cup action in Omaha a year ago ... Mrs. Margaret McGuire, widow of the late American soccer pioneer for which the competition is named will present the five-tier Cup trophy to the 1981 champion ... The Lighthouse Boys Club of Philadelphia, a five-time Under-19 champion, has won the most frequently ... Only three teams from Region IV (West) have won the McGuire Cup ... Chris Hundt, a standout defender with the U.S. National Youth Team, also plays for Scott Gallagher S.C.

Mueller to State

BLOOMINGTON — Since Illinois State University volleyball coach Linda Herman is a firm believer that players from a winning program play like champions, Herman's first volleyball recruit will fit nicely into the Redbirds' successful volleyball squad. Julie Mueller (pronounced Muller) of Freeburg has signed a national letter of intent to play volleyball for Illinois State this fall.

As a prepster, Mueller has indeed enjoyed a winning tradition. Freeburg High School has advanced to the IHSAA Class A State championship three out of the last four years, finishing third in 1977, making it to the quarterfinals in 1980 and winning the state title in 1979.

The southern Illinois 5-foot 8-inch stand-out was a member of the 1980 Mid-America Junior Olympic Team last summer and advanced to the Junior Nationals at the University of California-Davis. She was selected as one of the top 10 players in the Midwest region, which comprises Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska and southern Illinois.

"Julie is a talented athlete," said Herman, "with a lot of potential to become a top collegiate player. She comes from a strong high school program with a winning tradition and high standards, and that will be a big asset at Illinois State. Few high school athletes are ready to step into a Division I college program in their freshman year, but Julie is that kind of quality player."

Mueller, who was the only senior on Freeburg's young squad last year, captained the Redbirds to a quarterfinal finish at the state volleyball finals, after winning the championship the year before. Mueller is the first prep volleyball standout to announce for Illinois State this season.

Well-designed bucket seats provide support but limit the number of side-by-side passengers to two. On some models, swivel buckets are available in front. They turn to allow easier and more modest entries and exits. Split-bench seats are, like buckets, individually adjustable but their backs meet flush in the middle. The people can sit side by side, although not comfortably for long distances. On some larger cars, foldaway armrests are standard or optional with bench or split-bench seats.

Everyone who owns a car wants their car to be well designed and built to last. Unfortunately most cars are not built to last a lifetime but with proper maintenance your car's life can be extended just that much longer. By JEFF EAVES
For the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — Tom Stone of O'Fallon, Mo., won his third consecutive street stock feature of the year Saturday night at the Tri-City Speedway.

Starting on the pole position, Stone took command of the lead until a slower car spun out in front of him on lap 7 forcing Stone to the rear of the pack. This enabled Jim Pagel of Afton, Mo., to inherit the lead. Stone meanwhile made up his lap and began chasing Pagel and eventually passing Pagel on lap 16 to win the 20-lap feature.

At the finish, Stone was followed by Pagel, Dave Novak of St. Louis, Duane Whitman of Pacific, Mo., John Medlock of Kirkwood, Mo., and Joe Medlock of Kirkwood.

In the limited late model division, Rob Jones of Creve Coeur, Mo., won his second 20-lap feature in a row.

position and lead every lap for his second win of the year. Jones was followed by Bo Smith of St. Charles, Mo., Tom Smith of St. Charles, Mo., Cecil Lyons of Virginia, Ill., and Don Jumper of Fenton, Mo.

GRANITE CITY — Plenty of racing action will be displayed this weekend at the Tri-City Speedway. Tomorrow night beginning at 7, the AMA motorcycle race sanctioned by the "Missouri Muler" will race on the half mile clay track. There will be no racing at the Speedway Saturday night, but on Sunday night, June 21, beginning at 7:30, a special late model race will perform with wings on top of the cars.

Snake bite is serious

(American Medical Association)

Most snakes are not poisonous and most snake bites are not life threatening. But it is important to know and recognize the poisonous snake.

In the United States these are the rattlesnake, water moccasin, copperhead and coral snake.

The first three are pit vipers and are recognized by deep pits located between the nostrils and the eyes.

Rattlesnakes have sets of rattles at the end of their tails. Moccasins have a white coloring inside the mouth, and often are called cottonmouths.

The coral snake is a member of the cobra family. It has red, yellow and black rings.

It is smaller than the pit vipers and has a black nose. Try to capture and kill the snake if possible and take it with you to the hospital or doctor's office.

The venom of a poisonous snake causes severe pain, rapid swelling, discoloration of the skin around the bite, nausea and vomiting, difficulty in breathing, blurring vision, convulsions and shock.

The American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care recommends placing a light constricting band such as a belt or watchband a few inches above the bite toward the body. It should not be too tight.

Sterilize a knife or razor blade or scalpel from the snakebite kit in a flame.

Carefully make a cut one-eighth to one-fourth inch deep through each fang mark. The cut should be no more than half an inch long.

Do not make cross cuts. If suction cups are available, use them to draw out venom.

If not, use your mouth. If it is free of cuts and sores. Continue suction for 30 minutes.

Never use cold or ice compresses on the wound. This may freeze tissue and cause extensive damage.

Seek medical attention promptly, preferably at the nearest hospital emergency room.

If possible, have someone telephone ahead and tell of the poisonous snake bite and the type of snake, so that anti-venom serum can be made ready.

Despite the folklore, do not give alcohol.

Getting the victim to the hospital is the major consideration in first aid for snakebite.

Festival to highlight July 4 celebration on riverfront

Freedom Festival is the patriotic theme for the fourth of July activities during the V. P. Fair to be held on the St. Louis riverfront by the July Fourth Committee headed by Scott Schnuck, Schnuck Markets, John Nau III, the Coca-Cola Bottling Company of St. Louis, Marcus Tully II, Famous-Irr Stores and Robert Tyland, KMOX Radio.

The Freedom Festival will start at 5 p.m., immediately following the V.P. Parade on Saturday, July 4, with jet flyers by the Missouri Air National Guard flying McDonnell Douglas F-4C Phantom II planes and flyers of the C5, C141, C130 and 39 by the Military Airlift Command, Scott Air Force Base.

The 571st Air Force Band of the Missouri Air National Guard will play the National Anthem and other American music during this air show. A skydiving demonstration by the St. Louis Sport Parachute Club will take place at 5:15 p.m. in an area just west of the Gateway Arch.

"First Lady of Country Music" Loretta Lynn will present an hour-long show starting at 5:30 p.m. from the main stage near the Arch. The coal miner's laughter of one of America's most popular entertainers, according to artist and television personality.

Activities which will take place in the Mississippi River will include a unique three-man parachute demonstration of "Power Thutes" as an introduction to the popular water ski show produced by the Midwest Water Ski Productions of Alton.

One of the highlights of the festival will be the aerobatic acts to be performed in the air over the historic riverfront. Robert A. "Bob" Hoover, one of America's foremost pilots and often called "The Pilot's Pilot," will be featured in solo precision flying in the Strike Commander plane. "The French Connection," a dual precision aerobatic team with Daniel Helgoin and Montaine Mallet, will do aerial ballets in their red, white and blue planes.

The high-fall stunt, featuring Hollywood stunt man Spanky Spangler, known as "The Falling Star," will attempt to break a record for high-falls with a leap from a helicopter hovering 200 to 300 feet above a giant airbag below.

The Saint Louis Symphony Orchestra, America's second oldest symphony orchestra, will perform on the main stage starting at 8 p.m. Under the direction of Richard Hayman, the McDonnell Douglas principal Pops conductor for the Saint Louis Symphony, the orchestra will perform patriotic music including "American Fantasy" with

Msgr. Robert Ellison, vocalist. Air Force Band of the Mid-America, Scott Air Force Base; Salute to the Armed Forces of America with the 1 & I Color Guard, Third Battalion, 24th Marines, St. Louis, participating; American Folk Songs, Battle Hymn of the Republic with Msgr. Ellison, and ending with the Festival Overture, "1812," with a cannon fired by Alpha Battery, 123th Field Artillery, Missouri National Guard.

At approximately 9:15 p.m., the ceremony to light historic Eads Bridge will start with the appearance of the Veiled Prophet and his Court on a barge in the river near the Arch.

A spectacular fireworks display — similar to the exhibit which welcomed the return of the hostages at a ceremony at Washington Monument last spring — will be the finale for the Freedom Festival. The 45-minute show will conclude at about 10:15 p.m.

Sergeant invents device to improve tank weaponry

Sergeant First Class John J. Siebert, Support Company, First Battalion, 123rd Infantry of the Illinois National Guard has invented a device that will save the Guard thousands of dollars and add realism to training that was not before possible.

A platoon sergeant with the Bloomington-based company, Sergeant Siebert invented a device that adapts to the TOW weapon system (Tube Launched Optically Tracked Wire Command Lengthened). The cost of firing one round from this anti-tank weapon is approximately $4,000. With Siebert's device, the cost is one round of M16 ammunition.

Working on his own time and coming into the Bloomington armory during the evening, Siebert salvaged a Solinoid from an old car and devised two clamps to attach a M16 rifle to the tube of the TOW.

"I connected the solinoid in series with the TOW and a M16 rifle and ran current from two jeep batteries."

"This added two capabilities to TOW training that were not before possible. You have the ability to track armor and the capability to identify critical penetration points. You need to know what parts of the armor you have hit. I identify a realistic hit."

"The gunner fires the TOW, then there is a delay while the round is tracked. For example, at 3,000 meters there is a 16-second delay while the TOW round is tracked. After 16 seconds, the M16 fires. You then examine your target, and see what point of the armor has been hit. This was not possible before."

"The TOW training device is an all electronic device that drops the gunner's score if he gets off target. With my device, you can swing back on target at the last second and score a hit which is the way it would work if you were firing the real round. For targets, we use drawn silhouettes of armor vehicles at 1-60 scale. The gunner receives a target and actually see where he scored on the tank. With the electronic device now used, you are just told your score. When you get your target, there is more thrill to it."

"I got the idea for this at camp last summer. The Regular Army had a 22 caliber rifle attached to the TOW. You had to reload each round as you fired and you couldn't track the target. I decided to improve upon this to make the training more interesting."

So confident that this new device is workable and practical, the 66th Brigade has scheduled two battalions for training with it at summer camp.

With a 22-caliber adapter attached to the M16, the TOW could be fired on an indoor range in a Guard armory.

Once more ingenuity of the American soldier in the field has improved upon and made field training more realistic.

Sergeant Siebert has been a member of the Illinois Army National Guard for 9 years and is a foreman for the Eureka Company in civilian life.

What's down the road for Sergeant Siebert. "I'm tinkering with a moving target device like a shooting gallery with ducks moving back and forth. I'm using an old bicycle chain, a small motor, and small metal replicas of tanks."

State hopes to attract suppliers

Attracting foreign automotive manufacturers and suppliers to Illinois is the goal of a three-day trip to Toronto by a group representing the state's public and private economic development interests.

Representatives from the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs (DCCA), the Illinois Development Council, Illinois Bell, Northern Illinois Gas, Continental Bank of Chicago, the Kankakee Area Chamber of Commerce and the South Suburban (Chicago) Mayors and Managers Association are traveling to Toronto this week, to participate in an international trade exhibition for automotive manufacturers and suppliers of original equipment.

SITEV AMERICA is the first such international automotive trade show to be held in the Americas. Promoters of the show have staged similar exhibitions in Geneva, Switzerland, since 1974. The 1980 European SITEV attracted nearly 1,500 manufacturers and suppliers, and visitors from 35 countries.

"This is the first time a delegation led by the state of Illinois has gone to a trade show expressly to win new investments for our state," said John Castle, DCCA director. In the past our efforts have centered on marketing Illinois goods abroad. This time the product we'll be marketing is Illinois, itself, and we have a good product to sell."

Castle noted, "Political pressure as well as a desire to be closer to a giant American market is causing many European and Japanese automakers to consider building manufacturing and assembly plants in North America."

"The suppliers who regularly service these big automakers will want to follow their major customers, so they too will be looking for sites for manufacturing plants, warehouses and distribution centers."

He added, "Illinois has many advantages that make it a likely choice for these new foreign-owned facilities; advantages such as central location, good transportation, a large banking community, skilled labor, and abundant energy. What we need to do is make international manufacturers aware of those advantages, and that's why we're going to SITEV."

Castle observed, "Attracting foreign investment, like every other phase of economic development, is not the sole province of state government."

For local groups like the Kankakee Chamber (of Commerce) and the South Suburban Mayors and Managers, new industry means new jobs and new sources of tax revenue for their towns. For utilities like Illinois Bell and Northern Illinois Gas, new industry means new customers, new profits."

"In fact," said Castle, "everyone in Illinois has a stake in attracting new industry, that's why I'm so pleased a variety of Illinois private sector organizations will be represented at SITEV."

Governor aids flood area

Governor James R. Thompson declared Cook, Grundy and Will counties a disaster area early this week due to the flooding and the flooding on June 12 through June 14 that caused extensive damage to homes, businesses, farms and public buildings.

"The State provided the services of a number of National Guardsmen as well as the services of state employees over the weekend to help those who were affected by the flooding," the governor said. "We will continue to monitor the flooding and do what we can to help those who are in the flood area."

Damage estimates are now being compiled by the Illinois Emergency Services and Disaster Agency (ESDA) to determine if requests for federal assistance will be made later this week.

"It's virtually impossible to estimate total damages at this time," according to ESDA Director, Eric Longue. "Floodwaters will have to recede before a dollar damage estimate can be determined."

The areas hardest hit, centered around Joliet and the southernmost third of Cook County where flood waters forced hundreds to evacuate.

The governor's declaration will facilitate, upon application, requests for federal assistance and property tax reassessments. Individuals seeking reassessments should contact their local assessor.

Bike rider earns $460 for lung association

Steven Weeks, a 25-year-old student at SIU at Edwardsville wanted to do something again this year for the Lewis-Clark Lung Association. So, when Gene Crivello, regional director, contacted him in April to see if he was going to repeat what he'd done in 1980, Steve informed Crivello that he was planning a 200-mile bike ride on June 6.

Crivello immediately set out to acquire as many sponsors as possible for Steve. Thirty-three sponsors pledged from 1 cent to 50 cents per mile, never thinking that Steve would go the distance.

On Saturday, June 6, after 18½ hours of riding his 26-pound bike, Steve and 40 other riders completed the 200th mile which means he'll be able to turn over $460 to the Lung Association. Crivello said that "this will enable us to send two youngsters with severe asthma problems to Camp Superkids in Peoria in July."

Kiwanis membership drive started here

The Granite City Evening Kiwanis club launched at membership drive at the group's Tuesday evening meeting at Charlie's Restaurant. ## G. H. Sternberg honored for youth work

By MICK STRANGE
of the Press-Record
G. H. Sternberg Sr. of Granite City, president of G. H. Sternberg & Co., was awarded the God and Service Award last week.

The nationally prestigious award is presented by the Church Commission for Civic Youth Serving Agencies, with offices in Alexandria, Va.

The award was presented at a special meeting of the National Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America held in Texas.

The award is recognition to deserving adults who serve youth in the church through civic youth agencies such as Scouting.

Sternberg has been active in the Boy Scout program since a youth and on all levels, local, regional and national. On a national level, for the past seven years, Sternberg served as chairman of the Religious Relationships Committee of the BSA.

The Church Commission for Civic Youth Serving Agencies serves as a link between protestant, independent and orthodox church bodies and the BSA, Girl Scouts, 4-H and Camp Fire Girls.

Sternberg was presented with certificate number 46 of the honor. His citation reads in part: "Today we recognize a man who has given exceptionally of his time and talents to serve the youth of our country in the name and to the glory of God."

"A man of determination and action, who by his very life has been an example to his family, his neighbors and all with whom he has contact—a builder by profession, he has devoted his available time to building the character of our youth."

The citation was signed by LeRoy W. Nettress Jr., chairman of the God and Service Program.

'Music Under Stars' to open concerts in park here Tuesday

The "Music Under the Stars" summer concert series will inaugurate the 1981 season with a performance on Tuesday night at 8 o'clock in the Wilson Park ice rink-pavilion.

The series is sponsored by the Granite City Park District and no admission fee is charged. Ample seating is provided.

Mrs. Mary Ann Bright, vocal music instructor at Granite City High School South, again is serving as concert director.

Tomorrow night's presentation will highlight familiar older melodies, together with selections from the musicals, "Brigadoon" and "My Fair Lady."

The 20-voice children's chorus, consisting of youngsters from first through ninth grades, will present song and dances to such numbers as "Skip to My Lou," "Oh, You Beautiful Doll," "Mary's a Grand Old Name" and "Jeepers Creepers."

High school age young people and adults in the 40-voice adult chorus will perform various selections, including: "The Water is Wide," "Dawn on MacConnachy Square," "Almost Like Being in Love," "Catch a Falling Star," "Shenandoah," "Meet Me in St. Louis," "Dearie," "You, You, You," "Comin' Through the Rye," "Black is the Color of My True Love's Hair," "Someone to Watch Over Me" and selections from "My Fair Lady."

The remaining concerts are scheduled June 30, July 14 and July 28. Area residents may still join the chorus program, Mrs. Bright said.

Rehearsals for the next concert will start Thursday, June 18, with children's group rehearsing from 1 p.m. until 2 p.m. and the adults from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m.

All practice sessions are held in the vocal music room at Granite City High School South.

Petitions for tax cut in circulation

By LISA LUTZ
of the Press-Record
"We are being lied to about taxes," president of the National Taxpayers United in Illinois Jim Tobin told Madison County residents who attended a taxpayers' meeting last week at the Nameki Recreation Center. "This is the worst district in the state," he contended.

Tobin dominated meeting with a discussion of tax cuts. He told the residents that a state law allows for any tax to be reduced as much as 25 percent, with the exception of school taxes. A tax cut referendum may be placed on the election ballot by voter initiative. He hopes to accomplish this, and distributed petitions for taxpayers to sign at the meeting.

General corporate taxes, the highway fund and the mental health fund all could be reduced, according to Tobin.

He hopes that circulation of the petition will produce the 1,000 signatures needed in Madison County to place a tax cut referendum on the November, 1982, ballot.

Tobin had few favorable comments about Illinois Congressmen. He blamed high property taxes as one of the reasons industries are not locating in Illinois. "East St. Louis has the highest property tax in the state," he said.

He also decried local government as "inefficient." Tobin alleged that when he tried to obtain the most recent copy of the external audits in Madison County, he was refused a copy. However, past audits are available for public review.

The proposed tax cuts are small, Tobin said, having an overall impact of three percent, but would save the state millions of dollars yearly.

According to Tobin, Madison County had a surplus of $10,039,000 in the county budget. "He alleged that any surplus in a county budget is illegal."

Using this figure, if all taxes were abated for 14 months, Madison County could maintain regular levels of operation, with no adverse effect, Tobin indicated. Courts have not determined what an actual surplus is, making it difficult for court action to be taken against the alleged surplus situation.

Betty Young, coordinator, said she was disappointed at the meeting's attendance. "I think the people need to be more informed," Mrs. Young said.

Signed petitions may be returned to Mrs. Young. Tobin said that effort to organize taxpayers in the area will be made, in an attempt to place the proposed tax cuts on the ballot in November, 1982.

65 mile speed limit rejected

A bill that would permit Illinois motorists to drive 65 miles per hour instead of 55 has been rejected by a House committee in the legislature at Springfield last week.

The bill was turned down by the House Transportation committee on a 7 to 7 vote. Although it had passed the Senate, the legislation also needed House approval and a signature by the governor, to become law.

Illinois State Police were among major objectors to the proposal because of safety factors and the fact that the 55 mile per hour speed limit has been responsible for saving an estimated 500 lives per year.

Highway department officials also protested the measure, contending it would jeopardize about $300 million in federal funds included in the state's $550 million budget of the highway department.

Rep. Frank Giglio (D-Calumet City) who sponsored the bill in the House said he believed the bill should be given full debate on the House floor, while co-sponsor Rep. Donald E. Duester (R-Mundelein) told the committee that "Everybody passes me" when he drives the legal maximum of 55 miles per hour on highways.

The measure-known as Senate Bill 966-would have repealed the 55 mile speed limit which is mandated by federal law, and replaced with a 65 miles per hour limit. Duester said the proposal is part of the Republican platform and the 65 mile limit is favored by President Ronald Reagan. He said he doubted if federal highway funds would be lost to the state if the 55 mile law was raised.

But the committee was told by Mark Bozell, of IDOT assistant legislative liaison, that indications from Washington were that federal officials would have no alternative but to immediately discontinue highway project approvals if the tax relief was passed. Illinois' transportation system already is financially crippled and is seeking new means of taxation and financing. Downstate highway construction and maintenance. In other action Thursday.

The Senate by a slim margin, approved bills to delay sales tax relief on the purchase of farm machinery and tax relief on manufacturing equipment. The delay would be for a one-year period.

The state budget partially was based on deferring sales and use tax relief on manufacturing equipment and legislators had been told that failure to delay the relief would throw the budget $200 million off the track.

Some senators contended that a delay in the tax relief would renege on promises of relief for industry and hamper efforts to revive a stagnant business climate.

Sen. John E. Groberg (R-St. Charles) said some surrounding states which have voted to reduce their tax revenue through relief measures have lost their Triple-A bond ratings and reduced their chances of borrowing money at better rates of interest.

The Senate vote was 31 to 21 with eight abstentions.

Sen. Kenneth E. Buzbee (D-Carbondale), discounted reports by the Bureau of the Budget that the tax would mean an additional $12 million in the budget. He spoke out against the bill on grounds that additional revenue would not be obtained because farmers would buy their machinery from out of state.

The four-cent state sales tax for farm machinery was cut in half last year. But under SB 1064 the last two cents will not be cut until Sept. 1982.

Role of the individual in health care

(This is the fourteenth in a series of 15 articles exploring "The Nation's Health." In this article, public health professor Lowell S. Levin of Yale University argues that increased self-care competence is the best hope for improving our health. Copyright (c) 1980 by the Regents of the University of California.)

Self-care is a new word that describes an age-old practice. The care we provide to ourselves and to our families for common health problems constitutes about 75 percent of all health and medical care.

This includes most health-promoting and disease-preventing activities, 85 percent or more of care for minor illnesses and injuries, and the vast proportion of continuing care of chronic disease of a physician has been consulted.

Tooth brushing, treating minor injuries, taking aspirin for arthritis pain, self-medication for a cold, and self-injection for diabetes are all examples of self-care without them. Public policymakers must often ignore these facts; they define health care as virtually synonymous with professional care.

Yet today, increasing self-care competence is the best hope for substantial improvements in health and health care quality, and for putting limits on unnecessary and costly professional care.

This does not mean that self-care is in lieu of professional care. On the contrary, professional care is supplementary to self-care. However, the relationship is not always rational or planned, or even apparent.

The lack of awareness of self-care resources is reflected in public policies to solve the health care crisis. Most deal with the failure of the professional system—increasing the number of providers, improving training, distributing doctors more equitably, organizing the system more efficiently, and reducing costs.

Little thought has been applied toward adapting professional resources to support the layperson as the primary care-giver who can draw on physicians to supplement self-care.

The consumer is seen as having problems and precious little else.

IMPETUS FOR SELF-CARE. Evidence of an awakening public interest in self-care is all around us, paralleling similar movements of consumer interest throughout the country. In part, this interest is in response to a new understanding of the limitations of professional medical care.

We now realize, for example, that more and more physicians, nurses, hospitals, and other health care resources do not necessarily lead to improvements in health.

There also is a growing sense of the fallibility—and sometimes the futility—of professional care, which is at about 50 percent effective overall and 50 percent ineffective or even dangerous.

Recent publicity about unnecessary surgery, malpractice suits, and drug dependency has done much to reveal the clay feet of our professional medical "gods."

Although most acute illness is self-limited, whether treated by physician or patient, a vast amount of professional effort is devoted to common problems.

Even a modest increase in the level of self-care could make a powerful contribution to reducing the skyrocketing costs of medical care.

It would also permit physicians to devote themselves to people with chronic and complex medical problems.

The high cost of professional care in dollars and in the time and energy of patients toward self-care, but the psychological debt incurred by dependency on physicians and other health care providers could be even more costly.

This over-dependence has led patients to seek help from their doctors for everyday problems of life that in the past were never considered medical problems.

And it encourages doctors to treat their patients with treatments that are inappropriate for the course of their particular disability. Such patients could more effectively treat themselves.

Certainly there are other forces pulling us toward self-care; the interest is too widespread to be solely a reaction to disappointments with professional care.

The most subtle, but perhaps most powerful influence toward self-care is the striking change in the nature of our health problems. Fifty years ago, most diseases were infectious and acute, causing people to turn to the professional care for immediate short-term help.

The burden of infectious diseases has been greatly reduced by advances in sanitation and nutrition. Now about 80 percent of diseases are chronic—for example, arthritis, diabetes, and hypertension.

Chronic diseases require a long-term commitment to self-care, often with professional help or advice.

Both the quantity and quality of chronic disease management depend on the patient's motivation and skills.

Since almost half of the United States population has one or more chronic conditions, one can easily appreciate the magnitude of the public's desire for more skills in coping with these problems.

As physicians now believe that substantial responsibility can be turned over to patients and their families in such areas as administering drugs and monitoring blood pressure.

Ironically, changes in the professional health care is delivered provide an additional impetus for self-care.

Many medical functions previously in the domain of the physician have been distributed among a wide range of professionals with considerably less formal training.

As a result, the physicians' monopoly has been broken, and ordinary people have started to believe that with relatively modest training they, too, can learn medical techniques.

EDUCATION FOR SELF-CARE. Growing interest in self-care is a reality that probably will not be substantially affected by the attitudes of health professionals.

Laws governing the healing arts cannot prevent the diffusion of medical knowledge. The mass media have seen to that, while at the same time they emphasize the benefits of medical care.

The public has taken self-care education into its own hands, as is reflected in the availability of at least 3,500 health and medical do-it-yourself books—as well as newsletters, conferences, and workshops in health promotion and the management of acute and chronic disease.

How much can laypeople do themselves in health care?

Part of the answer lies in how much people want to do. The experience of several hundred self-care education programs reveals that people are interested in practical skills, not highly complicated, exotic techniques.

They want more control over their primary health care needs: first aid, treatment of minor illnesses and injuries, simple preventive measures and common practices.

For some, involvement in chronic illness management, such as diabetes mellitus, is essential.

For others, even more participation is possible. Several studies have found that with modest training, laypeople can do such procedures as throat and urine cultures with a high degree of efficiency.

Willingness to make the educational investment is the key factor.

Organized self-care education programs are an optimal way of ensuring that people learn skills that maximize benefits and minimize liabilities.

Such programs cover aspects of health promotion, disease prevention, illness management, self-medication, and how to use the professional system. Professional dominance prevails for some groups; other groups determine their own curricula.

Mutual aid groups are one way of developing and sharing self-care skills. There are over 500,000 such groups in the United States and similar groups in other countries, many of them started by people who felt their needs were not being met by established institutions and professionals.

These groups involve about 15 million people who voluntarily join with peers having a common problem.

The goals are to provide mutual support and learn to cope with a chronic disease or disability, such as stuttering, alcoholism, epilepsy, amputation, or retardation.

Physicians frequently refer patients to mutual aid groups and recognize their unique contributions to supplementing professional resources.

Increasing our competence in self-care can improve our health and lead to more appropriate use of professional resources.

This means abandoning health education that blames the victim and promotes dependency on health professionals.

It means adopting programs to enhance self-care competence and empower people to take charge of their health destinies.

Gardens affected by damp weather

By CHRIS DOLL

Area Garden Adviser

Spring 1981 has seen gardens grow in both dry and wet conditions. When excesses such as the cool and wet weather of May and early June occur, some abnormal situations will develop. These include rotting potato plants, poor tomato growth, splitting cabbage heads and many others.

The rotting of potato plants can be called stem rot or black rot. When it appears, it is too late to do anything about control. It is caused by fungus organisms that thrive in the moist conditions. Pull out infected plants and plant in new ground next year.

Poor growth by tomato plants is generally due to the cool weather and low number of hours of sunlight. If adequate nutrients are available, plants will gain normal color and growth as the season progresses. Wait until the soil warms before applying mulches.

Split cabbage heads occur when excess water is present in the soil of mature cabbage. This condition may be prevented by cutting some of the plant roots after the cabbage reaches maturity.

Many of the "greens" have been infected with downy mildew. Again, this is a disease that thrives on cool, damp weather. Good aeration and adequate plant spacing provide the best protection for preventing problems from this disease.

The cool, wet weather has been favorable for the cool season crops if diseases were not troublesome. This is the type of weather in which peas, lettuce, potatoes, and cole crops do best.

When it warms up, it is time to make sure that the warm season crops are in the ground and ready to bear their designated crop.

Gray, formerly of GC, secretary of Ill. Power

Two Illinois Power Company vice-presidents of the firm have assumed additional responsibilities. The board of directors elected Vice-President Arthur E. Gray as secretary and Vice-President Larry D. Haab as treasurer.

These elections were made as a result of the retirement of Secretary-Treasurer David F. Meek. He retired June 1 after almost 44 years with the company.

Gray, a native of Collinsville, has been with the company since 1952. His positions have included commercial office supervisor in Granite City and Decatur, and assistant chief commercial office supervisor and chief commercial office supervisor in the company headquarters.

In 1967, he was named manager of insurance and pensions. The next year he was appointed assistant secretary.

He was named assistant secretary and manager of accounting in 1971. The directors appointed him controller and assistant secretary in 1973 and he was elected a vice-president in 1979.

Haab, a certified public accountant, has been with Ill. Power since 1965. He began as administrative assistant and research assistant in the rate department.

In 1968, he became supervisor of systems and data processing development and later that year was named administrator of systems and data processing. He was appointed manager of data processing in 1971 and, in 1972, manager of rates. He was elected a vice-president in 1976.

The board also has named John B. Burdick as assistant secretary and Larry P. Altenbaur as assistant treasurer.

Farm work covered by social security

The earnings of most people working on farms in this area are covered by social security if one of two tests is met, Oliver Holmes, social security district manager in East St. Louis, says.

All wages paid are covered by Social Security if the worker:

- Is paid $150 or more in cash wages during the calendar year for agricultural labor, or
- Performs agricultural labor for an employer 20 or more days during the year for cash wages figured on a time basis—by the hour, day, week, or month.

If either of these tests are met, all of the worker's cash wages are covered and social security taxes must be withheld from the worker's pay.

If the worker is part of a crew, it is important to know who is the employer for social security purposes,

Holmes said. Generally, if the crew leader pays the workers, he or she is the employer and is responsible for making social security reports and deducting taxes.

The employer must keep a record for each worker, showing name, social security number, amount of wages paid, and amount of taxes withheld. In addition, the employer is responsible for reporting the wages and sending the taxes collected to the Internal Revenue Service and for preparing a Form W-2 (Wage and Tax Statement) for each employee.

For information about social security numbers or benefits, Quad-Cityans may get in touch with the East St. Louis Social Security office, located at 650 Missouri Ave. The telephone number is 274-4100 or toll free Enterprise 1-555. For information about social security taxes, contact the nearest IRS office.

Intensity of services, pay hikes boost hospital costs

Total expenditures of hospitals in this metropolitan area increased 18.3 percent in the first quarter of 1981 over the same period last year, according to an analysis made by the Hospital Association of Metropolitan St. Louis.

This increase is attributed to four main items—salaries, fringe benefits, intensity of services, and depreciation.

Intensity of services, cited in the American Hospital Association publication, Hospital Statistics, 1980 edition, is an almost 48 percent growth in the number of intensive care beds in Missouri in the last nine years.

"Cost areas that show the least increases included: interest expense, up five and a half percent; utilities, up more than nine percent; and food, up more than 10 percent. Professional liability insurance continued to decline, largely the result of the shared professional liability insurance.

Hospitals are continuing their commitment to voluntary cost containment efforts while maintaining high quality care."

Barn dance for GC seniors

The program will start at 7 p.m. Thursday at the township center, 2060 Delmar Ave. All senior citizens residing in the township are invited to attend.

Bob Boyd, director of the Checkerboard Squares dance group, will serve as caller during the square dancing. Instruction also will be provided.

If sufficient interest is shown, the township may conduct similar sessions on a weekly basis, it was learned.

A basket dinner will be held 8:15 p.m., prior to the dance.

The senior citizen's bus will be operating Thursday for those needing transportation. For bus reservations or further information seniors may call 877-8384.

Navy Mothers to join in festival

A table of handmade crafts is being prepared by the Quad-city Navy Mothers Club 850 for display at the Fourth of July festival in Wilson Park.

Members discussed the upcoming event at their meeting at the VFW Hall last week. Mrs. Elizabeth Ramsey presided at the business meeting. The mystery package was won by Mrs. Ramsey, and Mrs. Norma Darnell won a special prize. It was announced that the next meeting will be a social event June 25 at the V.F.W. Hall.

New welcome signs in Pontoon Beach

The Lions Club of Pontoon Beach has asked the Pontoon Village Board for permission to install "Welcome to Pontoon Beach" signs at different Pontoon locations, the board granted the request at a meeting last week.

The $1,500 cost of the signs will be incurred by the Lions Club. They will be eight feet by 12 feet in size. Proposed locations are on Highway 111 near the Nazareth Church, south on Highway 111 near the Spartan Gas station, and on Pontoon Road, near the ADM frontage road entrance.

These locations are within the corporate limits of Pontoon Beach. The welcome signs are to be placed before June 29.

The board also accepted bids for the repair of Village Hall doors, which were damaged by the April tornado. The total cost for replacing the doors and temporary close-up is $1,458.

Ethnic festival plans underway

Housing authority told of 'windfall'

Every dark cloud has a silver lining. High utility bills paid by Madison County Housing Authority during 1979 and 1980 may have posed a hardship on the authority, but the hardship is about to turn into a windfall, MCHA commissioners learned Thursday.

The authority is eligible to apply for $103,719 in reimbursements from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, since utility bills exceeded the anticipated bills for which the authority budgeted in 1979 and 1980.

Janet Haroian, executive director of MCHA, said the money is available, upon application to HUD. It is money which was not anticipated or budgeted in the 1981 appropriation ordinance, she noted. The commissioners adopted a resolution revising the budget to include the $103,719 windfall and authorizing application to HUD for the money.

Miss Haroian said the subsidy, when received, will reduce the anticipated 1981 deficit to $45,889 and careful spending may end the year without any deficit.

In other business, the commissioners tabled a resolution to update the pension plan for authority employees, pending legal review of the document in light of new HUD regulations.

Also tabled were bids for the sale of an older auto and the purchase of two new cars. The commissioners agreed not to open the bids which were received, pending further consideration.

Commissioner Thomas Jun contended Miss Haroian had authority to seek bids on new cars without permission of the commissioners and noted that the board has not officially declared the older car

Name daughter Emily Elizabeth

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Jellen of Edwardsville have named their new daughter, Emily Elizabeth. She was born May 28 at Jewish Hospital, St. Louis, and weighed seven pounds, eight ounces.

The mother will be remembered as the former Miss Joyce Kuhrik of Granite City.

The infant is the couple's second child. They also have a son, Benjamin Christopher, 4.

Mrs. Mary Kuhrik of Granite City is the maternal grandmother.

The paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Pete Jellen of Edwardsville.

surplus property.

Miss Haroian said she advertised for bids without consulting the board because the new vehicles are needed and are included in the budget, which the commissioners adopted.

Better Breathers Club enjoy picnic

Press-Record Photos by Pat Foley

The Granite City Gaspers, the nickname for the Better Breathers Club, enjoyed a friendly picnic and pollock in Wilson Park, photo at right, last week. The club includes patients at St. Elizabeth Medical Center who suffer from chronic obstructive pulmonary disease (COPD). Many are afflicted with emphysema or other non-curable respiratory disease. At left is Sylvia Stockton, a COPD sufferer, who must use the small, portable oxygen tank, at lower left, at all times. Dr. Robert Bruce is Medical Director of Pulmonary Services at SEMC and is assisted by Dr. Vinod Seth, pulmonary physician, in the department. The long-range goal of the pulmonary department is helping COPD sufferers set up a home program of therapy and to live their lives as normal as possible within their individual limits. Three nurses, a dietitian, occupational therapists, physical therapists, respiratory therapists and other staff members in the pulmonary rehabilitation department all work together to help the more than 30 patients presently receiving treatment to reach that goal. The program was instituted in December of last year and has been growing steadily since. All of the patients at the picnic agreed that the program has helped immensely in their day-to-day lives and praise the staff for their work.

CARBONDALE — Robin Deterding, a former athletic standout at Southern Illinois University-Carbondale and Granite City South High School, has been selected as the first paid assistant coach for women's volleyball at SIU-

CARBONDALE.

Deterding, a four-year letterwinner with the Salukis in softball and volleyball from 1976-80 and a volunteer assistant with the SIU-C spikers last season, will assume her coaching duties Aug. 15, according to Dr. Charlotte West, the SIU-C women's athletics director.

West said Deterding's selection was in keeping with efforts to provide head coaches for selected sports with needed assistance.

"Robin is one of two part-time assistants who will be working with our program during the 1981-82 school year," West said. "The other part-time coach will be for gymnastics and we'll also have graduate assistants helping out in softball and with support services."

"The responsibilities of coaching," West added, "have expanded to the point where it is difficult for a single individual to function effectively anymore."

Earlier this summer, Julie Beck, a former cager and assistant coach at the University of Missouri, was hired as the first full-time assistant coach in the history of SIU-C women's basketball.

Deterding, a native of Granite City, was twice honored as SIU's Athletic of the Year during her college level in volleyball. Deterding was a three-time captain of the Salukis as well as the top hitter-setter for four years.

Debbie Hunter, SIU-C's head volleyball coach who will begin her seventh Saluki season this fall, said Deterding's coaching role would be expanded for the coming campaign.

"Robin's familiarity with our program is a plus and will work to enhance her role as a coach," Hunter said.

"She'll have definite responsibilities more so than last year when she worked only as a volunteer. She'll work closely with our players in the areas of conditioning and practice techniques, and also be involved in some recruiting," Hunter added.

A two-time assistant director of SIU-C's successful Summer Volleyball Camp, Deterding was cited in 1980 as the Co-Ed Rookie of the Year by the United States Volleyball Association.

Career aspirations for the personable blonde include medical school.

Love praises new tax plan

Howard M. Love, chairman and president of National Steel Corp., on last week added his endorsement of President Reagan's tax package to that of the Business Roundtable and other business associations.

"H.R. 3849, introduced by Representatives Conable and Hance, is a good compromise that will accelerate modernization of American business, improve its productivity, and enhance the competitiveness of American business in international markets," Love said.

"This is an excellent first step in President Reagan's promised two-step legislative tax program, and should be enacted by Congress at the earliest possible date."

He added that "this proposal, coupled with substantial regulatory reform and vigorous enforcement of the fair trade laws, is precisely what the steel industry needs to reinforce its leadership in international and domestic steel markets."

"The administration displays a refreshing desire to correct these problems, and National Steel will cooperate in every way possible to make the president's economic and regulatory reform program a success."

Vegetable bill soars
America's commercial vegetable enterprise occupied about 3.3 billion acres in 1980, an increase of only some 75,000 acres since 1970. But the total value rose from $1.65 billion in 1970 to $3.08 billion last year.

Among the participants were Janet Sue Burnett, Jaime Lynn Carter, Theresa Schuette, Kimberly Ann Evans, Christopher Jay Hinterser and Robert Russell Lovins, all of Granite City; and Karen Ann Lapinski, Maryann Louise Bisto and Tracy M. Champion, all of Madison.

Hidden job market open to workers

It is estimated that only 15 percent of all available jobs are advertised for or known to various employment agencies.

The other 85 percent of jobs are referred to as "the hidden job market." There's a new place to turn to for those people who have lost their jobs as a result of a plant closing or indefinite lay-off. The Metropolitan Re-Employment Project has established an office in Granite City to help find new jobs for the displaced worker.

Brenda Derby is the Career Counselor assigned to the office which shares space with Coordinated Youth Services, Inc. at 1254 Niedringhaus Ave. in Granite City. Individuals wanting assistance in making a career change can arrange for an appointment by calling 978-2383.

The Metropolitan Re-Employment Project (MRP), which was founded on Jan. 1, and will run until Dec. 31, was designed by labor and management leaders to help find new jobs for the displaced workers in the greater St. Louis area including Madison, Monroe and St. Clair Counties in Illinois.

The project came about after Board Members of the New Spirit of St. Louis Labor-Management Committee met in the summer of 1980 to discuss the increasing loss of long-term jobs in the area.

An alarming number of plants were either closing their doors permanently or cutting back production and laying off workers indefinitely. The industries hardest hit included auto and auto-related, meat packers, glass, metal manufacturing, transportation and paper products.

As a result of the committee study, the St. Louis Regional Commerce & Growth Association (RCGA) agreed to co-sponsor the project and asked the Department of Labor (DOL) for funds to launch a program to combat the unemployment problem. The DOL approved a grant of $150,000 through CETA, and an additional $100,000 was added through in-kind services and cash contributions.

The project is operated by St. Louis Community College and three centers have been established to furnish career and placement services to job-seekers.

The following services are available through the project:

- Counseling geared to making decisions regarding career changes for the displaced worker.

- Training in job search skills including resume writing, how to find out about firms that are hiring, interviewing skills, and a group-oriented Job Club.

- Referral to various social service agencies for specialized services.

- Placement in jobs either immediately or after retraining.

- Identification of expanding job opportunities and referral to training programs to prepare for those jobs.

Bank provides $1 million for home improvement loans

At a time when home purchase mortgage interest rates are so high, Drew Karandjeff, president of Granite City Trust Bank, has announced that $1 million has been made available by Granite City Bank for Home Improvement Loans in the Quad-City area.

"No one enjoys living in a home that is beginning to take on the Rundown Appearance. There are times when all of our homes begin to show wear. A home is the average family's largest investment. Well worth protecting," Karandjeff said.

"A delay in a Home Improvement project can be a mistake. Usually home repairs and improvements you put off, cost more later on. And the money you put into a well-planned improvement may add considerable to the value of the home," he added.

"People should talk to us rather than making assumption about money not being available for loans and the cost of those loans," Karandjeff said. Home Improvement Loans are available below the current prime interest rate and also below the interest maximum FHA Title I interest rate, he said.

A Granite City Bank Home Improvement Loan can be obtained without disturbing a person's first mortgage interest rate. Karandjeff also stated that unlike the points charged at the time a home loan is obtained, there would be no points charged on a Home Improvement Loan.

The $1 million will be for loans up to $25,000. Each for improvements to owners occupied residences, rental income property, or for family apartments, business and commercial property, and mobile homes in the area. Karandjeff emphasized the importance for community improvement and encouraging restoration of home and he stated the Granite City Bank is giving these loans special attention and speedy handling. All decision makers are at the bank, to eliminate unnecessary delay. Karandjeff invites the public to visit Granite City Bank's unique "Home Improvement" Center, (located in the main lobby of the bank).

The "Home Improvement Center" helps demonstrate the proper caulking and insulation for the home. Also at the center, a visitor will find a wide range of free "How-to" brochures for those do-it-yourself projects and free helpful tips from the Better Business Bureau.

Contract to GC company

A report announcing the award of a contract by the Capital Development Board for replacement of windows at the East St. Louis Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville was accepted here Thursday by the SIU Board of Trustees.

The contract was awarded to Air Tight Sales and Service, Inc., Granite City, for $142,078. Total cost of the project, including architectural and engineering fees and reimbursables, is $160,670.

Replacement of windows is part of an East St. Louis Center renovation project which includes installation of an automatic elevator in the Broadway facility. The CDB contract for the elevator was reported to the Board of Trustees in May.

According to the CDB report, bids received for window replacement work initially were unacceptable, and this element of the project was rebid.

Total budget for the renovation project, including development of a master plan for future renovation of the facility, is $301,500. The project was approved as part of the 1980 fiscal year SIU capital budget request. Fleming Corp. of East St. Louis was employed as the architect.

Exam for service on review board

An examination will be conducted by the Illinois Department of Revenue, the Madison County Board of the Courthouse in Edwardsville at 10 a.m. June 30 for persons wanting to be on the review board. The review board is a member of the Madison County Board of Review.

Two members represent the majority party from the last county election, the Democrats, and one member represents the party polling second highest vote, the Republicans. There is one Democrat position open.

To be eligible for appointment, a person must be qualified by virtue of experience and training in the field of property appraisal and property tax administration.

He or she must pass the examination prepared and administered by the Department of Revenue to determine his or her competency to hold the office. He or she must be a resident of Madison County.

"Application blanks and more information can be obtained at my office in the Courthouse," County Clerk Evelyn M. Bowles said Tuesday.

Plan 3 plays at university

The department of theater and dance at SIUE has announced its summer schedule of University Theater productions.

The season's performances will include Kaufman and Hart's comedy, "The Man Who Came to Dinner," Neil Simon's "Chapter Two" and a musical version of Charles Dickens' "Oliver."

"The Man Who Came to Dinner" is scheduled July 8, 9, 10 and 11. "Chapter Two" will be performed July 22, 23, 24 and 25. "Oliver" will play Aug. 6, 7, 8, 13, 14 and 15.

Subscription rates for the three performances are: $10 for adults; $8 for senior citizens, members of the Friends organization, and students; and $7 for SIUE students, staff, faculty and alumni.

Francis, formerly of Belleville, received the degree of doctor of medicine from the University of Illinois College of Medicine on Friday at ceremonies in McCormick Place, Chicago. He received his medical education at the Peoria School of Medicine, a regional unit of the U. of I. His undergraduate degree was from Westminster College, Fulton, Mo., where he graduated summa cum laude, and he was valedictorian of the 1973 class of Belleville High School West.

Fox acquires old NESCO building

Acquisition has been completed of the former NESCO Manufacturing Plant at 1300 Niedringhaus Street, Granite City. It has been announced by Richard B. Kearns, president of Fox Industrial Warehouse Corporation.

The building, with 300,000 square feet, will bring the public warehousing facilities of Fox Industries, Inc. to 750,000 square feet. Fox Industries is the operator of Foreign Trade Zone 31 with USDA and FDA-approved facilities and U.S. Customs' formalities. Heated, refrigerated or freezer storage is available with direct rail and truck access.

Fox Industries is a member of Harbour Group, Ltd.

Burials for veterans

Veterans should remind their families that burial in a Veterans Administration national cemetery is open to any veteran who has been discharged under other than dishonorable conditions, the VA has announced.

Although the law doesn't provide for grave site reservations, a veteran can make things easier for his survivors by expressing a desire to be buried in a national cemetery, keeping military service records accessible and verifying eligibility at any VA office.

To be eligible for burial, military service must have been for other than training purposes. Reserve or national guard personnel who do not meet those requirements, but who are a result of their active duty or training, may also be eligible. Service members on active duty are also eligible.

Burial is available to an eligible veteran's widow, widower, minor children, and, under special circumstances, unmarried adult children.

When a veteran or dependent dies, the documents verifying eligibility should be presented to the funeral director handling the burial.

The funeral director then contacts the national cemetery director to determine eligibility and space availability.

Of the 98 national cemeteries, 58 have grave space available. 47 are closed and three are under construction or design. A closed cemetery means it is not available for initial interments.

Those who have a spouse or dependent buried in a closed cemetery may still be buried in that family grave site. Once eligibility and space are determined, VA will open the grave, handle the burial, furnish a headstone or marker and provide perpetual care and maintenance.

National cemeteries listed as full and closed may have sites available in the future through expansion, removal of obstructions or the cancellation of a reserved space. Reservations were permitted until 1982.

Questions regarding burial in a national cemetery or other VA burial benefits can be answered by the nearest VA cemetery or regional office. Toll-free numbers are located in the white pages of the phone book under "U.S. Government."

In Good Spirits!

by GEORGE CREWS

Who can you buy a better bottle of wine today than five years ago? Well-known French wines have skyrocketed in price, which sounds bad, but may actually be good... for American Wine collectors and pocketbooks. High French prices have resulted in Italian, Spanish, and of course, California wines getting a larger piece of the wine pie. America has finally come into its own when it comes to wine. Each year, the wine industry's greatly increased consistency and quality which together with the right soil, rainfall, etc., results in premium wine. Which takes us back to our original question: Who can you buy a better bottle of wine today than five years ago? Brother Timothy, the 70 year old cellar master at Christian Brothers vineyards in the Napa Valley, Ca., "Wines today are better than before."

Advisory committee to aid in bus service decisions

Temporary officers for the citizen's advisory committee to the Madison County Transit District Board were elected at a meeting last week. It was the first meeting for the new group, and permanent officers are expected to be elected at the next committee meeting.

The advisory committee and the transit board will locally control those who are affected by mass transportation and the district.

The committee will be asked to recommend where bus service should be. They also will inform the board of what type of service area residents desire.

The district's contract with Bi-State Development Agency is not like any other agreement the company honors, it also was noted. The contract stipulates that Bi-State must provide services which are specified by the board.

The advisory board and the committee is expected to submit a report to the Madison County Board at the end of November, informing board members of mass transit progress under the operation of the district.

Temporary officers elected at the meeting include Suzanne Blackhurst of Edwardsville and Don Alexander of Alton.

New car plate stickers due by June 30

Passenger car owners with license plate registrations expiring in June have until midnight Tuesday, June 30, to display brown 1982 stickers in the upper right corners of their rear plates.

Secretary of State Jim Edgar said approximately 360,000 renewal applications have been mailed to registered owners who currently display green 1981 stickers in the upper right corners of their rear plates.

Applications made by mail should be in the Secretary's office no later than Monday, June 15, to guarantee delivery by the June 30 deadline.

Stickers also may be purchased over the counter at the Secretary of State's Springfield and Chicago facilities or many financial institutions participating in the license renewal program.

Effective Wednesday, July 1, anyone driving a car with an expired green, June 1981, sticker may be ticketed and fined for improper registration.

If you have any questions about the Secretary of State's office, use the Secretary's toll-free telephone number (800-252-8980).

Awards for excellence in teaching

Recipients of the annual teaching excellence awards at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville were announced last week by Earl Lazerson, president.

David F. Schwartz, associate professor of government and public affairs, and Wayne D. Santoni, associate professor of history, were named winners.

Dr. Staley, lecturer in the university's Academic Resource Center, will receive the junior teaching excellence award.

With the selections go a cash award of $1,000 for each category and a plaque for each recipient.

The winners are first nominated by students enrolled at the university and then selected by a panel of 14 people made up of seven students and seven faculty members.

Santoni has been recognized by the students, alumni and faculty for his teaching ability on at least two other occasions. Joining the SIUE faculty in 1968, he received the Great Teacher Award in 1970 and the junior teaching excellence award in 1974.

Santoni has served on numerous university committees and panels since joining the government and public affairs faculty in 1975. Staley's accomplishments include restructuring a chemistry course for under-prepared learners in 1979-79. He joined the faculty in 1974.

University pay raises planned

Salary increase plans for employees of Southern Illinois University were approved here Thursday by the SIUE Board of Trustees, effective July 1. The plans are contingent on the appropriation of funds by the General Assembly, and are based generally on the percentage increase of salary funds appropriated.

The Illinois Senate has completed action on the appropriation bill for SIUE, and the bill is under consideration by the House of Representatives.

In accordance with Illinois Board of Higher Education recommendations and allocation of the governor's budget, the percentage of salary increases allocated by the state is to be funded on only 90 percent of the current salary base. This will require reallocation of funds from other areas if employees are to be provided the percentage of salary increases called for by the state.

Guidelines approved by SIUE trustees include plans prepared for each university and the office of the chancellor.

The guidelines are based on general policies and parameters within which salary increases will be made, rather than specific salary recommendations for each employee. Generally, merit and performance will be the major considerations, university officers said.

Applications for senior citizens are available at the office of Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagmann, 2060 Delmar Ave., and applications for others can be obtained at the office of Mayor Paul Schuler.

Bruce Rottler helping with a bit of dental magic

They don't know he is a dentist until he asks them to "open wide." They think he is a magician.

That's what Dr. Joseph Sim, chairman of pediatric dentistry and orthodontics at the SUE School of Dental Medicine, wants all the children he visits to think. It's his way of opening the door to dentistry but keeping the scare out.

"Now, I'm going to show you how a tooth grows in your mouth," he says, holding out his fist to an audience of preschoolers on the grassy hillside at SUE's Early Childhood Center.

With a quick move perfected by years of experience, Dr. Sim makes it appear. "It goes pop," he says. All 20 pairs of eyes follow the tooth as it grows longer and longer out of the fist.

"Hey, that IS magic," 5-year-old Zachary Ellerbrook confirms.

"See, it was that big all the time," Dr. Sim continues as he holds up the foot-long sample of an incisor. "You don't have teeth this big, just a rhinoceros. But yours are there all the time, too."

"That's why we shine a light and take a picture in your mouth. Then we can see the whole tooth," he explains.

Before he finished, Dr. Sim finds out he has to brush the teeth in his mouth, not on his feet; use the bristle end of the brush, not the handle; and work until he gets results that are bright and shiny, not half-clean.

"Oh, I've been doing it wrong," he admits to the delight of the children.

The business of screening each child individually waits as Dr. Sim carefully takes a toothbrush out of a sample kit each child will get to take home. He stops to listen.

"Now, when you take your toothbrush out," he instructs, "sometimes it cries."

The gush of laughter from the doubters is all the encouragement the white-haired magician needs to go on.

"It sheds tears because it doesn't want to be brushed," he assures them. "Now, you let me know if you see any crying toothbrushes."

As a last step, he asks the group to get ready by trying

Apply now for Ill. scholarships

Students at SUE who plan to renew their Illinois State Scholarship Commission (ISSC) awards or apply for them for the first time are being urged to do so immediately.

John Jemmett, director of the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance, said students who wait until later this summer to apply may find ISSC funds exhausted.

The university has been advised by the ISSC that in the current year, the number of scholarship winners who actually enrolled in college exceeded planning estimates. Major changes are being considered in the state appropriation for the ISSC beginning July 1.

Revisions made by the Senate to allocation of the governor's revised budget include a reduction of $1,720,000 for the monetary award program and the addition of $4 million for academic scholarships in the appropriation for the ISSC. The appropriation bill is now being considered by the Illinois House.

Students needing application forms for the scholarship awards may pick them up at the Office of Student Work and Financial Assistance in the Rendleman Building. Additional information is available by calling 692-3880.

to open their mouths as wide as they can. "Look at that," he says with certain pride. "Like a bunch of alligators."

The dentist and his fourth-year student, Bruce Rottler of Granite City, carry the show inside where Dr. Sim does a disappearing act with a happy face on the tongue depressor before he gets to the teeth.

"Now, each child to have this experience," he says. "Like adults, they are only frightened of what they don't know or haven't experienced before."

Dr. Sim also visits children in the classroom to show visiting teachers that dentists can do this very well. "Some teachers have a fear themselves and pass that on to their students. We need to avoid that, too," he insists.

With a parent standing by, Dr. Sim finally talks and jokes his way into a look inside each preschooler's mouth to find out if the child needs further care or just more brushing.

"You need to start saving your quarters in a jar now," he frankly tells one mother. She shakes her head in agreement, admitting she had the same bite problems when she was a child.

Others get a "fantastic" or "beautiful" rating and an offer to "put a picture of those teeth in a book someday." They all get a big hug.

The last step is a brushing lesson with Rottler, who hands out the kit with a tube of toothpaste and an alligator-handled toothbrush inside. More than one invert stops to listen for a cry.

Flowers & Gifts

by Ron Kelih

Flowers can increase color perception. In a floral design, one tests color combinations to find the one that looks best. As in painting, it is possible to emphasize a particular hue to create a mood. Color sets the tone of an arrangement as cheerful or somber, casual or formal, modern or traditional, delicate or dramatic. Although color is only one element of design, it influences all the others, defining line, form and space establishing pattern and emphasizing textures. The purpose of color is to enhance design, not to substitute for it.

It's our purpose to provide you with complete floral service. Arrangements are available for funerals, birthdays, anniversaries and holidays from us at BETTY & BOB'S FLOWERS AND GIFTS, 2156 Pontoon Road, 877-8833, across the street from Thomas Funeral Home. Don't forget Father on his special day. Open: 9 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

FLOWER TIP: Too many different kinds of flowers disrupt unity. Some colors and forms should be repeated for rhythm and continuity.

12 charged with violating Maryville Rd. speed limit

The Granite City Street Department has posted 25 mile-per-hour speed limit signs in the 3200 block of Maryville Road and police have begun enforcing that speed limit, the Granite City police are warning.

Twelve motorists were arrested in that block last week, all driving between 40 and 45 mph, police alleged. They were issued speeding tickets and given dates to appear in court.

The 25 mph speed zone was imposed on Maryville Road from Emert to Terminal Avenue after a 5-year-old girl was struck by a car and was killed in the 3200 block April 27. Strict enforcement of the speed limit is being urged by the aldermen of the ward.

Sidewalk sale June 25 to 27

The theme will be "Western Days" and all merchants and employees are being urged to wear Western dress for the sale. Bob Glik of Glik's Department Stores is chairman of the event. Merchants desiring additional information may contact him at 876-6717.

Telex now offered here

Western Union has announced that Granite City is now both a Telex I and Telex II (TWX) exchange city.

The local business community will be able to subscribe to the services without paying for leased extension facilities to another exchange city, as formerly was required.

Western Union's interconnected Telex teletypewriter exchange services provide users with a communications service that seeks to combine the speed of immediate delivery with the accuracy and written record value of a letter.

A Telex subscriber can communicate electronically with any of 140,000 domestic subscribers plus 80,000 more in North America and another million around the world.

In addition to direct terminal-to-terminal service, subscribers have access to a variety of other message services, including mailgram, telegram and cablegram service, store-forward delivery of Telex messages addressed to busy or inoperable stations, multiple-address message service to stored lists of addressees, and on-line information services ranging from stock price quotations to reports on ski conditions.
